Japanese Rejoice Over Victories—Think War Near End

Tokyo Believes War With China Is Nearing End

Expect Capture Of Nanking To Bring Five Month's Warfare To Conclusion

JAPAN REJOICING OVER DEVELOPMENTS

Momentous Declaration Of Future Policy About China Is Expected Soon

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Dec. 7.—Official advices that Japanese troops are about to storm Nanking plunged Japan into a fever of rejoicing today—in anticipation that Chinese resistance will crack and that the five-months old war will end.

The official Japanese news agency added to the jubilation by announcing the Tokyo government is "likely to issue a statement withdrawing recognition from the Chinese government after the fall of Nanking."

Shortly after this dispatch was distributed, the cabinet met and was reported to have agreed definitely to withdraw Japanese recognition from China after Nanking is occupied.

At the same time, representatives of the navy, war office and foreign office met to draft a formal statement. Foreign Minister Koki Hirota advised Emperor Hirohito of the latest developments.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Ashes on our hills are a big help to motorists during such weather as we have had since the recent fall of snow, but on the level there are no ashes, and this condition calls for extreme caution on the part of all motorists. Especially is this true in making turns and at street intersections. There is no excuse for fast driving on city streets at any time, much less when they are coated with snow or ice.

If you have a medicine cabinet in your home Pa Newc would advise that you see that all bottles are plainly labeled. Several serious cases of poisoning and at least one death have occurred in neighboring cities recently through mistakes. You may know well enough what is in a bottle or box when you put it away, but unless it is plainly marked, you may not be so certain a few weeks or months hence, and with serious consequences.

Lawrence county, as well as others throughout the state, is awaiting definite information regarding the administration of relief after January 1. On the surface things appear to be in a muddle, and unless something is promptly done to straighten them out, much hardship is likely to result. In the opinion of many, all relief should be handled by the counties instead of the state, since county officials are better acquainted with the needs of their respective districts.

It is noted that in some other sections of the state tax collectors are employing collecting agencies to collect per capita taxes in much the same manner as was recently done in Pulaski township. The court rejected the practice here in a decision in which it was held that costs

Meet School Drum Major!

CARL WALLACE SHERER

Heading the New Castle Senior high school band as drum major in its many marches and maneuvers of the fall, has been Carl Wallace Sherer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Sherer, of the Mt. Jackson-New Castle road. Here he is shown attired in the natty new uniform, a part of the equipment of the band recently provided by the people of the community.

Mr. Sherer is also a member of the American Legion band, and took part in the Cleveland and New York parades of that championship band. With exception of a couple of days in which he accompanied the Legion band to the Legion conventions, Sherer has a perfect record for school attendance. He attended Mt. Jackson, George Washington and Senior high school. He is a member of the junior class at present.

Union Township School Board Elects Monday

Meeting Of Board Is Held In Union Township Senior High School

Regular monthly meeting of the Union Township public school board was held Monday evening, in the township high school on Scotland Lane.

Reguular business routine was the order of the meeting, with president, Karl T. Rohrer in charge.

Two new members were admitted to the board and administered the oath of office. They were: W. L. Diamond and F. A. Pinkerton.

Election of officers was held and Karl T. Rohrer was again re-elected as president of the board. Stanley Augustyne was named to the office of vice president. The other members of the board, John W. Shuler was present and took part in the meeting.

School business and activities for the coming year was the main topic of discussion, with no matters of real importance being brought before the board.

Late Andrew W. Mellon Is Exonerated Of Charges By Tax Board Decision

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—The late Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, today was exonerated of filing a fraudulent income tax return in a decision by the U. S. Board of Tax appeals.

The board however, in a split decision, ruled that Mellon owes the government addditional taxes for 1931. The amount of additional taxes which will be assessed against Mellon's estate will be far less than the $3,089,261 claimed by the internal revenue bureau.

The exact amount of the taxes the estate must pay as a result of the decision will not be determined until the board's findings are studied by the treasury.

The care against the former Pittsburgh capitalist and one-time ambassador to Great Britain stirred Republican charges that the Roosevelt administration was seeking political reprisals against Mellon who served in the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations.

Farm Belt Bloc In Congress Badly Split

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—Congressional leaders, faced with a badly split farm-belt bloc, today sought support from big city delegations to rescue the compulsory farm control program.

Members from urban and industrial centers suddenly found themselves holding the balance of power in a seething house battle over compulsory marketing quotas and penalties threatening the entire farm bill.

In complete revolt late yesterday, house members led by Rep. Coffee (D) of Nebraska, overrode the administration and tossed out the controversial quota provisions on wheat. The vote, still subject to reconsideration, was 85 to 76, with agricultural representatives virtually the sole participants.

While the action revealed farm-belt members almost evenly divided on the issue of compulsion, it gave no inkling how the remaining two-thirds of the house membership, largely representing populous centers, would vote when reconsideration was reached before final passage.

Meantime, the senate confronted the same issue.

Although the senate was scheduled to go through the perfunctory motions of approving several perfecting amendments sponsored by its agriculture committee, it still had to face a showdown on a substitute bill calling for voluntary control proposed by Senator Lee (D) of Oklahoma.

Labor Relations Board Is Silent

Reserves Comment On Policy Toward Magazine Editor Defying Subpoena

(International News Service)

STEUBENVILLE, O., Dec. 7.—The National Labor Relations board reserved comment today as to its policy toward Hartley W. Barclay, editor of the magazine "Mill and Factory," if he persists in refusal to appear at hearings on charges that the Weirton Steel company followed unfair labor tactics.

Under the title, "The True Story of Weirton," Barclay wrote a description of the earning which he described as a "burlesque staged with taxpayers' money."

Counsel for the board, Isadore Polier, said the matter of Barclay's failure to appear "will be in the hands of the labor board."

He called other witnesses during the hearing who testified that copies of the publication were distributed throughout the steel mills where workers could see them.

The board has denied that its efforts to question Barclay can properly be interpreted as in any way infringing freedom of the press. The board subpenaed Barclay to produce material on which his article was based as well as any communications bearing on its drafting.

Barclay was in New York where he addressed the National Industrial Council on "Labor Racketeering."

Business Women Hear President At Annual Dinner

Federation President Declares "Women Have Been Hitchhikers"

BUT WANT TO NOW DRIVE 'OWN CARS'

Miss Earlene White of Washington, D. C., president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, last night at The Castleton addressed 100 women who had gathered for the annual public relations banquet given by the New Castle club.

Delighted by the national leader's pleasant personality and her extremely interesting discourse, the throng of guests, many of whom had traveled from distant cities in order to hear her, agreed that it had been one of the most enjoyable evenings they had ever passed.

With Mrs. Hazel Boyd, chairman of public relations for the local club, presiding, the program was placed underway immediately after the bountiful turkey dinner served at artistically decorated tables in the hotel ballroom. The invocation had been given by Miss Olivia Griffiths.

Government Claims Victories In Spain

Aerial And Land Victories Are Reported On Eastern Front In Civil War

(International News Service)

BARCELONA, Dec. 7.—Spectacular aerial and land victories were claimed by the Spanish government on the eastern front today as the insurgents attempted a series of violent surprise attacks supported by fleets of warplanes.

Four insurgent planes were shot down in a mass air battle, a government communique said, while Loyalist troops hurled back rebel onslaughts in the Lecinosa sector, inflicting heavy losses.

It was claimed insurgent planes for a major offensive on the northeastern Aragon front have been delayed for the time being by government air and artillery bombardments. It was believed Rebel General Francisco Franco would launch drives against the southern and central fronts—aimed at Almeria and Madrid——to relieve the pressure in the northeast.

Woolcock Again Named President Of School Board

New Members Sworn In And Board Is Organized For Coming Year

SOME ORGANIZATION CHANGES ARE MADE

Routine School Business Is Taken Up After Officers Are Named

Daniel B. Woolcock was re-elected president of the New Castle school board Monday night, December 6, when the annual organization meeting was held in the administration building on East street. Clyde M. Whittaker was chosen vice president and Attorney William J. Moffatt as solicitor.

The meeting was one provided for in the school code which names the first Monday of each December as the day for organization. Secretary John B. Bechtol took the chair at the opening of the special meeting and read the call for the meeting. He asked for nominations for temporary president and Griff Thomas was selected to act in that capacity.

Members Sworn In.

Mr. Bechtol then read the election certificates of Daniel B. Woolcock, A. C. Hyde and Dr. Arthur B. Foster, all elected in November, the first two being re-elected. Mr. Thomas administered the oath to Woolcock and Hyde, Foster having previously taken his.

Nominations for president were then in order, Mr. Woolcock being the only nominee. For vice president Mr. Whittaker was the only nominee. For solicitor there never was any question, Attorney William J. Moffatt being the only one considered. Mr. Moffatt was first elected solicitor of the New Castle school board on April 1, 1906. Since then his election has been more a ratification yearly.

It is thought that he is the oldest school board solicitor in the state in point of service. He is recognized as an authority on school law and his service to the local board has been invaluable.

S. Garvin Ligo was re-elected superintendent of buildings and grounds, being the only nominee.

Order of Business.

The board then voted to continue the same order of business that has been had for the past several years and again set the second Wednesday after the first Monday of each month as the regular monthly meeting date of the board. The time is 7:30 p. m. eastern standard time.

President Woolcock then re-ap-

Condition Of Girl Is Serious

Hospital Report Says Second Victim Of Auto Accident Badly Burned

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR MARY CIPRIANO

Miss Antoinette Cipriano, aged 22, of 412 Bleakley avenue, who was severely burned in an automobile crash which cost the life of her 24-year-old sister, Miss Mary Cipriano, and resulted in injuries to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cipriano, and Victor Lombardo, of Uber street, driver of the car, near Leesburg, Sunday morning about 11 o'clock, was reported as being in a "serious condition", this afternoon according to New Castle hospital officials.

Miss Cipriano was badly burned about the face, hands and throughout most of the body. Some improvement was reported in the condition of her father, Anthony Cipriano. Mrs. Cipriano returned to her home Monday afternoon, at her own request. Victor Lombardo, of Uber street, driver of the automobile which was enroute to Meadville, has recovered sufficiently to return to his home from the Mercer hospital.

Calmly Admits He Killed His Cousin

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 7.—Harry R. Bates, former Cooperstown WPA worker, today calmly admitted to a jury of nine men and three women in Judge J. Hillary Kennan's court that he killed his 11-year-old cousin Vallie Bates last October 6 because she "squawked" when he tried to criminally assault her.

Bates also admitted in court that a month before he murdered his cousin he attempted to assault two other little Derry township girls, one his niece, "but they hollered and got away."

KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Aged Man Dies Of Auto Hurts

Cyrus Guildoo Passes Away In New Castle Hospital Of Injuries Received Saturday

WAS STRUCK BY OHIO MOTORIST

Cyrus Guildoo, aged 81, of the Dean block, died in the New Castle hospital, Monday evening at 10:30 o'clock, as a result of injuries received Saturday evening, shortly after 6 o'clock when struck by the car of J. M. Abraham, of 17 North Schenley avenue, Youngstown.

Guildoo received lacerations of the head with a possible concussion of the brain, and because of his advanced age, was unable to withstand the shock of his injuries.

Mr. Guildoo had gone to a grocery store for some milk and was crossing East Washington street, near the old Pennsylvania railroad station, when struck.

Coroner Orville potter was notified and is conducting an inquiry today. He stated that an inquest will take place later.

Police Search For Missing Kane Girl

(International News Service)

KANE, Pa., Dec. 7.—Police here were puzzled today by the disappearance of Gertrude Simon, 14-year-old school girl, who vanished last night after being seen within a few feet of her home.

Frank Reed, 22, told police he strolled with her early in the evening and that when he left her she was apparently about to enter her home. Police Chief P. E. Nelson said he was attempting to locate a girl with whom Gertrude had talked earlier in the day. Police are checking the possibility the girl is a runaway.

TELLERS ARE SENTENCED

Schoonmaker.

Chinese Fleeing From Nanking As Japs Advance

Torch Is Used To Set Fire To City As Chinese Troops Move Out

CITY IS STRIPPED OF ALL VALUABLES

Refugees Of Every Description Stream Out Of Once Proud Capital

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NANKING, Dec. 7.—Using fire where the sword had failed, retreating Chinese put the torch to Nanking and surrounding towns today as Japanese troops surged relentlessly toward the gates of this rich and historic city.

The first of the nearby cities to go was Chinkiang, only a few miles east of Nanking. Travelers reported the entire population of 150,000 fled in panic across the Yangtze when retreating Chinese soldiers set the town aflame.

Meanwhile, in Nanking, shrine of Chinese nationalism and revered in history since 200 B. C., three huge fires were set at strategic points in order to deprive the Japanese of cover and the city was being stripped to an empty shell.

Raze Villages

Military headquarters dispatched orders to Chinese troops to raze every village surrounding the capital as they retreated. Refugees of every type and description, some stoically calm and others hopelessly panic-stricken, streamed out of the capital into safety zones.

Not even the sacred porcelain tower, with its five huge pearls hung from the eaves as auguries to spare the city flood, fire, storm and civil disturbance, could save Nanking from the ravages of looters and the determination of retreating Chinese to leave nothing for their enemy but smouldering memories of a once great glory.

In the panic and excitement, Chinese fired on a tug moving out into the Yangtze with evacuating foreigners. A number of British passengers, including an embassy official, escaped uninjured.

Systematically, Nanking's defenders destroyed ammunition dumps, gasoline depots and airport hangars and workshops in the hope that when the Japanese at last enter they will find themselves in possession of a wrecked and useless city.

Among the few remaining foreigners here there was the grave fear the Chinese would burn the city's magnificent public buildings before they evacuate completely.

Chinese Fleeing

Shanghai, Dec. 7—Nanking, "soul of New China" writhed in the death throes of a devastating siege today as Japanese forces enmeshed the city's suburb in a python-like stranglehold from which there appeared to be no escape.

At a late hour this afternoon, according to Japanese officials here,

Now I do not go to those southern spots, but it costs very little to look, and to dream my way to the azure gulf, through the leaves of a travel book. # Urges End Of Exile Of Duke

'Persecution' Of Duke Is Assailed

Col. Wedgewood Would Have Appointment Given To Former King

MAY HEAD MOVE TO BRING WINDSOR BACK

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937.)

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Appointment of the Duke of Windsor as governor-general of Canada or to some similarly high post was strongly advocated by Col. Josiah Wedgewood, veteran warrior on the battlefields of France as well as the laborite benches in the house of commons.

Assailing the present "persecution" of the duke and duchess, Col. Wedgewood, in an exclusive interview with International News Service, urged their immediate recall to England from virtual exile.

Movement Growing.

The parliamentarian even indicated that he might assume the leadership of a growing movement to bring Edward back to his native country and eventually offer him a high post.

"Appointment of the duke to some position like governor-general of Canada would end the present silly persecution," said the colonel, always a staunch supporter of the former king.

"He should be given some work on behalf of the nation. He would be perfectly eligible as governor-general of Canada or Australia.'

Col. Wedgewood, who has been a laborite M. P. for 31 years, vigorly defended Edward during last year's abdication crisis in the house of commons.

Several Are Hurt In Auto Accident

Collision Occurs On Monday Night At East Washington Street And Winslow Avenue

Several persons were injured in an automobile accident between cars driven by Elmer Hulme, 1516 Huron avenue, and J. C. Matthews, 925 Winslow avenue, at Winslow avenue and East Washington street, at 11:50 o'clock Monday night.

Mrs. Matthews sustained a laceration on her head which required several stitches to close. She was in her husband's car.

Miss Marion Williams, North Mercer street, who was in Hulme's auto, sustained an injury to her head when it struck the windshield and also bruises to a knee and leg.

According to a report made to police Hulme was driving west on East Washington street and Matthews was driving east on the same street.

A young man and woman who were walking gave assistance to Mrs. Matthews, it was reported today.

Fisher Admitted To Practice Law In Local Courts

Alvan H. Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fisher of Highland avenue, was admitted to practice in the Lawrence county courts by Judges Chambers and Braham on Monday upon a petition presented by Judge-elect Thomas W. Dickey.

The oath was administered by Prothonotary John A. Edgar. Fisher was declared "sworn" by Court Crier Clifford Vance, and immediately handed Vance a bright silver dollar, which is the usual custom.

Mr. Fisher is a graduate of the New Castle high school, Geneva college at Beaver Falls and the University of Pittsburgh law school. He took the state bar examination at Philadelphia and will present a petition for admission to the supreme court at Pittsburgh. He expects to practice his profession in this city.

The splendid musical program consisted of piano numbers by Miss Virginia Woods and vocal solos by Madeleine N. Rugh. Both are artists of whom New Castle is justly proud. Miss Woods played a polonaise by Chopin, followed by a modern piece, "A Little White Donkey," by a French composer. Mrs. Rugh sang "On Wings of Song" by Hahn, "Pickaninny Kid" by Guion and "American Lullabye" by Gladys Rich, and had for her accompanist Mrs. Paul A. Welsh. Before dinner a half hour of organ music had been provided by Thomas H. Webber, Jr.

Earlene White Speaks.

The national leader's address, not long, was delivered with a charming southern accent (she was born and reared in Mississippi) and with a pleasing informality. She slipped easily fom humor to the more serious matters at hand and then back again.

She pointed out the importance to women of their jobs, saying that the older business women are supporting not only themselves but their mothers, fathers, invalid relatives and are often putting younger members of the family through school.

"Ruth Was Business Woman."

Don't let anyone tell you women are taking the place of men, she declared to the assemblage. The privilege of supporting one's self and family is as old as the world itself. In the Old Testament, Ruth is a perfect example of a business woman. She worked in the field, as did the men (and, as often happens today, married her boss). Lydia, who owned her own home, was given as another example of an independent woman of Bible days.

Women are not asking for anything, the national leader continued. They are simply demanding what is their's. They are not asking the men to get out of their way—but just that they move over a little and allow the women to take their share of the load.

"Have Been Hitchhikers."

"Women have been hitchhikers," she said, "and have been dumped out anywhere at the diver's convenience. I believe we are now at the point where we want to drive our own cars and travel to the destination we are best fitted for."

The speaker reminded the group that there are more women in elective and appointive positions today than ever in the history of the country. These women face a great many hardships, she said. Because they are women taking for the first time jobs always held by men, they have to do all men have done and much more, simply because they are women.

"Don't Criticize Them!"

"And friends," she pleaded, "let me ask you not to criticize them! I don't ask you to praise if you can't, but have loyalty enough to our cause 'to keep your mouths shut'."

After the address, a reception in honor of the distinguished guest was held in the hotel lobby.

Miss White, postmistress of the United States senate, made the trip to New Castle in spite of the extra session of congress because of her many friendships in the local club. She was given a warm welcome such as that famous "southern hospitality" could harly exceed.

Bids Opened For Lighting System At County Home

Lawrence County commissioners opened bids this morning for an emergency lighting system at the county home. Only three were offered. They were as follows: Industrial Electric Company, New Brighton, $1,750; E. J. Traggesser, Ambridge, $1,747, and The Marvin Electric Company, New Castle, $2,392. The commissioners took the bids under advisement until they are checked up. The contract will not be awarded until next week.

The emergency system is for use in case something goes wrong with the regular system. It is a state requirement that it be installed.

TOKYO BELIEVES WAR WITH CHINA IS NEARING END

cles here, authorities freely predicted Nippon's troops will plant the Rising Sun flag of Japan in the center of the Chinese capital within a relatively few hours—at latest by tomorrow.

Loyal Japanese subjects talked of delivering Nanking to Nippon as a "Christmas present"—but as they prepared for a gigantic victory celebration they believed the "killing" woud be made well before Christmas.

So widespread was this belief that the cabinet of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye held itself ready for an extraordinary meeting as soon as news is received that Nanking has succumbed. With imperial approval, the government is then expected to make its momentous statement of future policy regarding China—a statement that will be heard, and may cause repercussions and wrath, around the world.

In some quarters it was believed the statement, in addition to "outlawing" China's government, may proclaim Japan's intention of pushing deep into middle China and capturing Chungking and Hankow.

AGED MAN DIES OF AUTO HURTS

John, of Verona, Pa., and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Kuhn of Harlansburg and Mrs. Mary Shurlock of Ellwood City.

He and his wife came here five years ago from Louisville, Ky., and they conducted a grocery store on Lutton street, later on Walnut street, selling out last September. They had lived in New Castle 30 years ago, also.

Mr. Guildoo was a member of St. Peter's Evangelical church in Louisville.

The body has been removed to the Glenn funeral home in Zelienople, where it will remain until 2 p. m. Thursday when it will be brought back to New Castle for services at 2:30 in the Bethany Lutheran church. Rev. Paul J. Tau, the pastor, will be in charge. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

REPORTS ACCIDENT

Theodore Hoover, 112 South Walnut street, reported to police yesterday his auto caught on a fire-escape on a building in an alley west of South Mill street between Long avenue and Reynolds street. Both were damanged.

The chairlady for this event is Mrs. Margaret Fantia and her aides are Mrs. Marie Bordonaro, Mrs. Helen Richards, Miss Tina Sorto, Mrs. Rose Roselli, and Mrs. Theresa Collella. An exchange of gifts will be featured.

Mrs. Rose Tebesko received the club token at Monday's meeting. The hours were spent in social chat and late in the evening, Miss Tina Sorbo and her team served delicious refreshments.

The next regular meeting of the group will take place on December 20 in the club rooms.

Tau Delta Class.

Mrs. John Riley was hostess to the Tau Delta class of Epworth M. E. church, at the home of her mother, Mrs. E. R. Shaffer, Sumner avenue on Monday evening.

This was their Christmas party and after the regular business routine, in charge of the president, Jane E. Young, plans were made for a Christmas basket.

Devotionals were led by Anne Fletcher and Mary C. Jackson in the form of a candlelight service and Christmas carols were sung. An exchange of gifts featured the meeting.

Associate hostesses were Mrs. Walter Gilmore and Mildred Lusk.

Sings At Antioch College.

Miss Jean McCreary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. K. McCreary of Volant, is a member of the chorus chosen to sing at the annual Christmas concert to be given at Antioch college, Fellow Springs, O., by the glee club and orchestra on December 12. Miss McCreary, a graduate of the East Brook high school, is a freshman at Antioch this year.

MISS MITCHELTREE IS D. A. R. SPEAKER

Miss Nannie Mitcheltree was the principal speaker at the meeting of Lawrence Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held Saturday evening. Miss Mitcheltree read an interesting paper "Pennsylvania Signers of the Constitution,' as her contribution to the program.

The group met in the home of Mrs. E. J. Blanning, Highland avenue. In the absence of the regent, Mrs. F. G. Simonton, Mrs. C. R. Balph presided.

Delicious refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program, at a table attractively decorated with poinsettias and red candles in crystal candelabra. The house was decorated throughout in the Christmas motif.

Associate hostesses for the event were Mrs. F. E. Sowersby, Mrs. E. L. Stitzinger, Mrs. Benjamin Beisel, Miss Olivia Griffith, Miss Margaret Smith, Mrs. A. H. Fullerton, Mrs. Myrtle K. Atwell and Mrs. Frank F. Fischer.

MRS. W. S. McCASLIN TENDERED FAREWELL

Mrs. W. Scott McCaslin of East Washington street, who with her husband will leave sometime this week for Florida to spend the winter months, was taken by surprise on a recent evening, by her former Sunday School class members, when they entertained at a farewell party. The event took place in the home of Mrs. John Frazier at Walmo.

Sharing honors, was one of their group, Mrs. Michael Wonner, a bride of a year ago, who was presented with a shower gift from the class. She too, was taken by surprise.

When the evening was at its height, Mrs. McCaslin was showered with an array of dainty hankies, which conveyed wishes for their safe journey and a safe return from the South.

Special guests of the occasion, included Mrs. George Waller of Weirton, W. Va., and Mrs. Thomas Edmunds. The former, with Mrs. Thomas Frazier, mother-in-law of the hostess, and Mrs. Robert McCullough, served a delectable repast at the close of the social period. The table was cleverly appointed in keeping with the Christmas season, and the menu was enjoyed by candle light. Individual corsages of pine and bittersweet were given as favors.

CURRENT EVENTS CLASS MEETING

Members of the Current Events class were entertained in the home of Mrs. Andrew Temple of Scott street, Monday afternoon, when they gathered for a regular meeting.

"Current Events" were given in response to roll call, with a number of interesting topics being discussed. Mrs. Frank Woods, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. C. A. Ingals requested that all members of the class purchase Christmas tuberculosis seals. Critics for the afternoon included: Mrs. H. A. Rugh, Mrs. R. A. McKinney.

Next regular meeting will be on Monday, January 10, in the home of Mrs. J. N. Kerr of Young street.

"MICKEY MOUSE" AT QUEEN ESTHER PARTY

Even though Old Santa is too busy getting toys completed in his shops for good boys and girls, one of his helpers, "Mickey Mouse", always comes through with a bang to deliver pre-holiday gifts.

On Monday evening, this comic little fellow in the person of Mrs. John Kenehan, put in his appearance at the Christmas party held in the Third U. P. church by the Queen Esther class members. He performed his duties from a miniature stage, after reading a telegram of regret from St. Nick at the North Pole, delivered by messenger, Mrs. William McBride, who was also attired in fitting costume.

Activities were underway at 8 o'clock, with Mrs. Kenehan, president, taking charge. "The Christmas Story" was read by Miss Evelyn Sacripant.

A program followed, with selections being contributed by a quartette comprising Mrs. Williard McCowan, Miss Marietta Daugherty, Miss Mabel Kocher and Mrs. Lloyd Wimer. Mrs. Harold Walton, accompanist, presided at the piano throughout the evening.

"Christmas Eve At the Poor House" was portrayed in a novel playlet, with the following taking character parts: The matron, Mrs. Landon, was enacted by Sal Renick; Mrs. Witchel by Mabel Kocher; Mrs. Williams by Mrs. Wilbur McKibben; Mrs. Shaw by Mrs. David Jones; Mrs. Clemens by Betty Gray; Miss James by Mrs. Merle Anderson who in turn introduced each participant in the play in a clever manner. Mrs. Floyd Kelly enacted the role of Alice in the skit. Each gave a fine performance, and the theme of the presentation was expressive of the Yuletide season.

Others adding to the entertainment were Miss Jean Baltes, who gave a piano solo. Miss Jean Gilson gave a reading and a vocal duet was sung by Mrs. Williard McCowan and Mrs. Morris Houk.

A theme of blue and silver was used throughout in all details, presenting a holiday setting. A huge evergreen tree belonging to Mrs. G. S. Jenkins centered the room, aglow with blue lights. Miniature trees adorned the long tables, where lunch was later served to 45 guests.

Mrs. Bernard Hook, their teacher, who was unable to be present, was remembered with a lovely gift from the class, and also, Miss Jean Glenn of The News was the recipient of a beautiful gift.

Committees in charge included the following: Decorating, Mrs. G. S. Jenkins and Mrs. Howard Reynolds; program, Mrs. Jack Ellis, Mrs. Fred Thompson and Mrs. Bernard Hook; social, Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. William McBride, Mrs. Wilbur McKibben, Mrs. Joe Must, Mrs. William McGuire and Mrs. Thomas Baskeyfield.

After "Mickey Mouse" delivered to each guest a package, prettily wrapped in blue and silver, the group adjourned, voting the occasion an overwhelming success and one of the outstanding events undertaken.

Sharing as special guests were Mrs. Norman Clutts of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Kenneth Clark and Mrs. Jessie Dysart, this city.

MRS. T. I. ELLIOTT RECEIVES SOCIETY

Members of the Jean Hill Williamson Missionary Society, of the Highland U. P. church, met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Thomas I. Elliott, Winter avenue, for their Christmas session. Gifts, for a Christmas box to be sent to one of the Indian missions, were taken by the members.

After the usual business routine presided over by the president, Mrs. Irvin A. Balph, the program was given. Mrs. Glenn Throop led the devotionals after which Mrs. D. L. Ferguson presented an interesting talk on "Mission work at Frenchburg," located in the mountains of Kentucky.

Mrs. Elwood Gilbert, president of the Women's Society, gave a beautiful Christmas reading, followed by an interesting talk concerning the work among the "American Indians." Mrs. Dean Staley gave the latter topic.

At the conclusion of the program, there was a social time during which refreshments were served by the following committee: Mrs. Frank Schiek, Mrs. Mendal Smith, Mrs. Harold Vance, Mrs. Eleanor Mott and Miss Elsie Davis.

Special guests of the evening were Mrs. Elwood Gilbert, Miss Minnie Davidson, Mrs. C. E. Barker, Mrs. Harold Livesay, Mrs. Carl Green, Mrs. Harold Sampson and Mrs. Harry Bilzi.

WOMAN'S CLUB GROUP HAS YULE PROGRAM

Members of the Educational Department of the Woman's club had a Christmas luncheon and program in the First Presbyterian church on Monday at noon, with fifty members participating.

Mrs. D. L. Ferguson pronounced the invocation and following the luncheon, members went to the church parlors, where a program was presented with Mrs. William Margraf, presiding.

Mrs. Dorothy Gormley Smith, accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Reed, sang "Gesu Bambino," by Pietro Yon. Mrs. Reed also favored with a piano solo, "Rondo Capriccoso," by Mendelsohn.

Mrs. C. M. Johnson of Pittsburgh gave an interesting talk on "Perfume and its History."

Next on the program, Mrs. Margraf introduced Rev. Edwin Shumaker, pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church, who gave an interesting paper on "Modern Education and the Christmas Story."

Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine was next on the program and she gave a very interesting talk on "Christmas in Other Lands."

Thee program ended with the group singing "Silent Night."

The next meeting of the Educational Department will take place on January 17, at 1:30 p. m., in the Highland U. P. church, with Mrs. R. D. Rosenberger as the speaker.

JUNIOR ENDEAVOR LEADERS ORGANIZE

At a tea on Saturday afternoon in the home of Miss Louise Davies, Garfield avenue, the Junior Christian Endeavor leaders officially organized and elected the following officers:

President—Miss Freda Campbell.

Vice president—Mrs. Ramona Allen.

Secretary—Miss Ruth Garrity.

Treasurer—Mrs. Daniel Schnebly.

The meeting opened with a devotional period led by Miss Geraldine Fry. Seven societies were represented in the group of guests. Plans were made for activities of this month.

Tea was served by the hostess. Mrs. Sol Davies poured, assisted at the table by Mrs. Tillie Scheidemantle. The Christmas colors were used.

GLEANERS SOCIETY PLAN FOR PROGRAM

Gleaners Missionary society of the Second U. P. church were entertained Monday evening, in the home of Mrs. C. D. Parker on Morton street, for a social and business session combined.

Mrs. Ralph Weide was leader, and Mrs. Milton Marshall, president of the organization, was in charge of the routine period. Plans were made for a special program to be given during the Yuletide season for "Shut In's," the particulars to be announced. A social hour concluded activities.

On Monday evening, January 3, the group will meet in regular session, the hostess to be decided.

JOHN T. CARPENTER HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

John T. Carpenter of 207 South Crawford avenue, reached his eighty-eighth birthday on Saturday, and to commemorate the occasion, friends called in the evening.

Sunday however, a dinner party was held. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carpenter and son, of Cleveland, O., and Mrs. Agnes Trumbell of New York City were among the out of town participants.

The table was adorned with two large birthday cakes, the appointments being carried out in keeping with the theme of the occasion. Cards, gifts and other remembrances were received by the honoree, as additional mementos of the day.

I Never Want to see Another Cathartic!

Here's a way to AVOID two tyrants—common constipation and cathartics, too!

Simply put back in your diet two of Nature's own laxatives that are lost by eating soft, "refined" foods: These NATURAL laxatives are the intestinal-tonic vitamin "B1"—and "bulk."

Kellogg's All-Bran is a good source of vitamin "B1"—to tone your intestinal tract and promote regular elimination. All-Bran has "bulk"—it absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination.

All-Bran is a crunchy, toasted cereal. Eat it with milk or cream and fruits. Delicious in muffins. But, however you eat it, use it REGULARLY: eat two tablespoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation—and cathartics, too! Every grocer sells All-Bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THINGS NOT WHAT THEY SEEM

THIS swiftly changing world never seems to lose its capacity for surprises and for educational experiences. As an example, there is the war in China. The common impression of this conflict is that it had its origin in the desire of Japan to acquire more territory adequately to provide for its growing population.

But this is not the case, the world is informed by Tokio. The war was initiated purely as a defensive movement—to save Japan and the Orient in general from reversion to Communism. With respect to Brazil, too, we have been under a serious misapprehension. Quite erroneously, it seems, the impression was created when President Vargas arbitrarily extended his term seven years without the formality of an election, abolished courts, federal, state and municipal legislative bodies and centralized all power in the head of the government that he was establishing a dictatorship.

This impression is now dispelled by Minister of Justice Francisco Campos. The whole movement, Mr. Campos assures us, is simply an experiment in governmental paternalism. The Brazilian electorate, he explains, is uninterested and inadequately educated for voting on complex public issues, which are becoming technical appeals to reason rather than political appeals to emotion. So the government, as represented by the person of President Vargas, has simply relieved the electorate of the civic obligation of voting or bothering about other responsibilities of citizenship, except, of course, paying taxes.

Mr. Campos says the new government of Brazil is the foe of Communism, also of liberalism. And he might have added with every degree of truth that it is the foe of democracy.

THE CHRISTMAS SHOPPER

When people do their Christmas shopping, they should realize, particularly if they are a little late about it, that the store people are doing about two or three times as much work as usual, and that the shoppers must be prepared to do a little waiting before they can expect service. Those who cannot wait a few minutes until earlier comers are served, should rush out and do their holiday shopping immediately.

We must all keep good natured through the Christmas rush. The store clerks who can keep their temper when customers are cross and grouchy, are headed for promotion. They show capacity for success in retail trade. And the customers who are tolerant and do not find needless fault, are the ones who get the best service in the end.

MONEY-SAVING MEMORIALS

Representative Treadway's proposal to rescind the $3,000,000 appropriation by congress for a Thomas Jefferson memorial in Washington and rename the Congressional Library in his honor contains a suggestion for numerous other economies of the kind.

Why soak the taxpayers for more or less—generally less—artistic memorials to departed worthies or distinguished living citizens, when the same purpose can be served by utilizing existing structures without expense, except for carving a new name over the front door?

Museums, art galleries, stadiums and numerous public institutions readily lend themselves to this scheme that would delight a Scotchman's heart. Even the zoos could be rung in, with their monkey departments dedicated to some of our leading politicians.

Mr. Treadway's got something. His idea, if expanded in accordance with these respectful hints, would surely add to the gayety of cities, if not of nations.

STICKING TO ONE'S KNITTING

It took ten years of spare time for Mrs. Frank E. Hayward of Seattle to crochet the bedspread with which she has just won the national crocheting championship. She used $10.10 worth of thread, and perhaps lost or broke a few needles somewhere along the line, but she now has the championship title, plus a $250 check and a trip to New York.

Thus is an ancient art once more vindicated, an old-fashioned accomplishment of women re-discovered outside a museum. Maybe some housewives can still make jellies. Who knows what stellar culinary and housekeeping virtues are practiced in remote places, unsung and unphotographed for the newsreels? It is true that tatting, quilting and such former "accomplishments" of the well-brought-up maiden now seem to many to be a bit quaint. Perhaps that's because Miss or Mrs. 1937 doesn't find needlework "restful" after a full day of writing advertising copy, making political speeches, defending suspects in court, removing tonsils, running gown shops or flying out to the coast and back.

NAMES THAT ARE ONLY TAGS

Stuart Chase, economist, is justifiably disturbed over the inadequacy of the tools used in attempt to convey thought. When words have different meanings, varying interpretations, and diverse implications neither the speaker nor the listener may know what the former is talking about or why. Mr. Chase cites "fascism" as an apt example, and notes that " 'fascism' rarely means the same thing to any two people." The same difficulty attaches to "Nazi," to "Democrat," "Republican," "Constitution" and "Trust."

It is true that two persons may debate feverishly about "fascism" without knowing precisely what the word now denotes. But when a person defends "fascism" or opposes it he at least has in mind what fascists are doing in Italy and their influence in the world drama. Millions who cannot quote five words from the Constitution understand, and correctly, that somehow it defines and protects their political freedom. Mr. Chase is right about lack of agreement on terms, but what's the remedy?

Lexicographers cannot supply it. Our language already contains so many words that an adequate elaboration of definitions would swell dictionaries to impossible proportions. The trouble is that civilization is getting too complex. Our remotest ancestors got along well enough with interchange of ideas by grunts and signs.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS IN FAMILY

You and I can afford to give some thought to moral values for our children, in relation to Christmas gifts within the family. The average tot has an orgy of receiving gifts "from Santa Claus". Later, from his parents and others. So strongly and so early does he acquire the attitude of always receiving, that he naturally gets very little of the spirit of giving. Essentially his Christian training for years is in selfishness.

Even while he still believes in Santa Claus, there should be a gift or so "from Mother and Daddy". Gradually the proportion of his gifts "from Mother and Daddy", or from other persons, should increase while those "from Santa Claus" should decrease correspondingly. This gradual emotional adjustment to the myth of Santa Claus.

I assume that your little child has been led to believe in Old Saint Nick. You must decide on that matter, of course, but as soon as he asks you if Santa is a real person, you will calmly and frankly answer "NO; we have just been playing that he is real," and that you will go on pretending with the child as long as he cares to have you do so. This question he may ask when he is five or six; surely soon after he enters school. Why so many parents will try to force Santa Claus on the school-age child or even younger child, is more than I can understand. Neither can I understand why the younger child should be denied the joys of Santa Claus and other fairies.

Give Tot Some Money

It is well to give the tot four or five a little money—better to induce him to save his pennies for it—to buy an inexpensive gift for each of his parents, who will receive it with deep and sincere appreciation. As he grows older, if there are other children, let him also provide a gift for each of them.

While serving as a fellow-speaker at a teachers' state convention, with a certain eminent city superintendent of schools, I was told by him that in his home it has been a custom since his youngest child was nine for them, before Christmas, to write the name of each family member on a slip of paper and shuffle these slips in a hat, each drawing one. The name drawn by each member indicated the person for whom he was going to provide the Christmas present. This name was, of course, kept secret until Christmas morning. In the words of modern youth, "He has something there."

Greatest moral values come to children when they make self-sacrifices over a number of days, weeks or months, in order to purchase a gift for one they love; and the greater the self-denial the greater the joy and love in the giver from his giving.

DO WOMEN UNDERSTAND WOMEN?

Do they or don't they?

They say they do. In fact, they insist that they do. All of them claim to be authorities on other women.

But let a man let out the mildest peep on the subject, let him even hint that he knows a few facts about women—and what does he get? He gets the merry ha-ha. He gets a polite laugh and it's not so polite, either. He gets treated as though he were a tiny child who shouldn't speak unless he's spoken to and perhaps not even then.

But why shouldn't a man understand women? Didn't he have a mother? Didn't he have a sister or two, whose faults and caprices and charms were as familiar to him as his daily bread and butter? Hasn't he been around and known quite a few women and doesn't he marry and have a wife? And don't women tell men things they won't tell each other, just as human beings say things to complete strangers that they wouldn't whisper in the bosom of the family?

Isn't it possible that men understand women much more profoundly than women understand women?

If they don't, then how did men keep women in what was almost slavery clear through the centuries up to now? If the women understood each other so well why didn't they organize and rebel long before they did? And why isn't there more sex solidarity among them now, as there has always been among men?

Women were rivals through so many ages. They sat together when the men were away at war or hunting or just wandering over hill and through the forest. They talked warily together and sometimes they exchanged confidences or dried each other's tears. But they sprang apart when the men came home and were rivals again. And I'm sure that rivalry for place or for favor is a bitter foe to understanding.

If women understand each other as completely as men understand men, it's a miracle. If they do, they have acquired wisdom without having had experience. If that's true, then I feel very foolish already—and I hear that merry ha-ha coming swiftly in my direction.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

Dear Miss Markel: My father passed away in July last. Mother says it is incorrect for us to send Christmas cards or to exchange gifts, except in the immediate family. We are still in mourning. But I think that sending cards is proper and expected. Please advise us.—M. B.

Answer—You may, with good taste, send Christmas cards to your friends as well as your relations. Gifts, too, may, with perfect propriety, be given by you, if you so desire. On the contrary, you may disregard both of these customs this year, if you would prefer, since your friends will probably not expect them from you and will regard your omission as a sign that you are too sad to enter into the festivities of the holiday season.

Dear Miss Markel: Should a woman calling on a married woman leave a card for the later's husband? —G. G.

Answer—She should leave one of her cards for the hostess but not the host. A woman never leaves cards for the masculine members of a household.

If the visitor is married, she should leave, in addition to her own card, two of her husband's—one for the hostess and one for the host.

The World At A Glance

Appraise President's Plight.
British View Him Temporizing.
Compare Situation With France's.

By LESLIE EICHEL, Central Press Columnist

AN APPRAISAL of President Roosevelt's policies that may surprise many Americans appears in England's foremost journal of opinion—The New Statesman and Nation. (It must be remembered that this journal has a liberal point of view—in the United States it might be called Progressive or radical.)

This appraisal is headed "The President Temporises".

Here is the nub of the article:

"In comparison with that of France the situation facing Mr. Roosevelt in the United States has points both of difference and similarity. There is no M. Chautemps waiting to step into the presidential shoes; there has been no exodus of American capital abroad, and the budgetary deficit with which Mr. Morgenthau has to deal is much less intractable than that which broke M. Vincent-Auriol.

"On the other hand, President Roosevelt, like M. Blum, has mobilized against his administration the passive resistance of almost the whole capitalist class.

"Leaving out of account the various economic fictions created by the less successful experiments in New Deal planning, the nature of the 'jam' in which the United States government now finds itself can be summarized in a few words. Having salvaged a shipwrecked financial and banking system in 1932-'33, the president jollied America, albeit belatedly, some way along the road of general world recovery by prodigal expenditure from the federal treasury on relief and constructional works, whose effect, coupled with currency depreciation, cheap money and AAA rehabilitation of farm incomes, was a pronounced expansion of consumers' demand, reaching its climax a year ago with the $2,000 million veterans' bonus.

"Alarmed at the possibilities of a boom in consumers' goods and a serious price-inflation, Mr. Roosevelt began, in 1937, to abate the process of 'pump-priming'. Federal expenditure was reduced, financial orthodoxy promised in future budgets, checks imposed on further expansion of banking credit.

"Having set the machine going, the president looked for a 'natural' growth of momentum—only to find that his governmental outlays had masked the absence of private capital investment in housing, factories and plant that Big Business, antagonized by the social reforms, competitive federal enterprises, progressive taxation and anti-speculation enactments of the New Deal, had gone quietly on strike; and that as soon as consumers' demand began to flag on the cessation of federal boosting, the wage increases won by labor with the tacit blessing of the White House produced a formidable disequilibrium in capitalist economy, intensified recently by the fall in raw material prices."

* * *

BUT NOW—?

"From this impasse the president can extricate himself only by moving decisively to the left or to the right; and for all the non-committal temporizing of his message to congress (at the opening of the special session) there can be little doubt that is to the right that he will delicately move.

"The slump continues, engrossing the attention of the United States to the exclusion of any faint hopes there were that the government was preparing to play a more active part in world politics. Mr. Roosevelt cannot affaird to watch passively the development of another major economic crisis, in whose stagnation and misery social order in America might easily perish. Currency devaluation is a trick which cannot be successfully played twice; credit, unused, is already ample; a further dose of inflationary federal expenditure, at the cost of abandoning every prospect of budgetary equilibrium, would today result in frightening investors and still further deterring private enterprise.

"The only alternatives are to re-

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

VERY SCREWY

The government's left hand knows not what its right hand doeth. That seems to be the only possible deduction to be made from the series of recent events.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a sweeping complaint against a number of large meat packing firms, on the grounds that they have violated the anti-trust laws by conspiring to manipulate and control prices.

And at the last session of Congree a law was passed—the Miller-Tydings Act—which makes a farce of all anti-trust legislation so far as it applies to trade-marked products in interstate commerce. The act provides that the manufacturers of these products may establish the minimum retail prices at which they may be sold. Approximately forty states have similar laws in effect. If a retailer refuses to hold to the "fixed" price, the manufacturer may blacklist him and refuse him more goods.

Price fixing with government blessing is very new in our national life, but the effects of it are already seen. In less than a year representative products, including cosmetics, liquors and drugs, rose in price five to fifteen per cent above the levels obtaining before price-fixing was legalized. The future trend will inevitably be upward.

So we legalize anti-trust law violations for some concerns, and at the same time we prosecute others for alleged violations of the anti-trust laws! This curious situation will doubtless provide an interesting chapter for the scholars who will some day write the history of this screwy age.

Since none returns whom death has called away.
And yet the oldest of us, worn and weary,
Pleads with the Master for another day.

What is this urge within to toil and tarry
Which neither glass nor prying probe disclose?
Is there deep hid beneath the cares we carry
Some secret which the spirit only knows?

This brief experience on earth called living,
That briefer one called death are all we know.
If life be good why view with such misgiving
The next broad gate through which we soon must go?

There must be more of service men must render,
And more of triumph than they now achieve,
We pass from here to realms of greater splendor!
I cannot prove it, but I can believe.

Dickey Describes Preacher From Viewpoint Of A Layman

Lawrence county's judge-elect, Thomas W. Dickey, gave a frank view of "The Minister from the Standpoint of the Layman", at the regular meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association in the First Presbyterian church on Monday, and the clergymen found the subject intensely interesting.

Mr. Dickey prefaced his remarks by a quotation from Robert Burns —"Wad some power the gift 't gie us, to see oursel's as ithers see us." The three events or occasions in life that the minister serves where no one else can are, he pointed out, the time of conversion, at the marriage altar and at the time of sickness and death. He enumerated some places where the minister is not at his best. He closed his address with the statement that "the minister who knows only what is in the commentary will never be a good minister."

Rev. P. C. Pearson moved a rising vote of thanks to Mr. Dickey, a movement severally seconded and unanimously adopted.

Dr. John J. McIlvaine, president, was in charge of the meeting. Rev. W. G. Holmes read the 103rd Psalm and offered prayer.

Dr. D. L. Ferguson, reporting for the law and order committee, gave an account of the type of entertainment furnished by one of the local theatres; a discussion of the situation followed in which many of the ministers took part. By action of the association the matter was left in the hands of the law and order committee.

Rev. H. A. McCurdy, chairman of the program committee, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Dickey. Rev. W. V. McLean was introduced as a new member. The program was closed with prayer by Rev. M. Cecil Mills.

The next meeting will be in two weeks. Rev. C. H. Heaton, D. D., will speak on "What Shall We Preach for the Present Needs?"

No City Or County Wide Ratification Ceremonies For December 12

Plans for a local celebration of the 150th anniversary of the ratification of the Federal constitution were dropped today by the general chairman for Lawrence county, State Senator William J. Eroe, Jr. Similar action is being taken in other counties.

It was originally planned to hold celebrations in every county on December 12 with the major celebration in Philadelphia. Albert M. Mr. Wadlinger chose as his topic, "Railroading and the Future of New Castle as a Railroad Center." He brought out the fact that New Castle is centrally situated for a proposed railroad center between Chicago and New York. The speaker said this city is a perfect spot for a terminal. His speech was thoroughly enjoyed.

Chiang Flees

In the darkest moment of his tempestuous life, Chiang, acccompanied by his American-educated wife, left the almost helpless capital by plane for an "undisclosed destination" while Japanese troops surrounded the purple mountain tomb of Sun Yat-Sen—the man who had bid him remain.

Official Japanese announcements declared Nippon's swift-moving troops had occupied the capital's suburb in a series of surrounding "squeeze" maneuvers and had taken up strategic positions preparatory to a concerted dash into the almost deserted city.

Before this is accomplished, however, the Japanese will have to storm and scale Nanking walls in the face of withering fire from "dare to die" battalions left behind to cover the Chinese retreat.

There were even reports that Chiang, on whose shoulders has fallen responsibility for Chinese resistance thus far, would go into retirement leaving to foreign minister Wang Ching-Hui and Chinese military leaders the task of reorganizing the government and making peace with Nippon. This, however, was not confirmed.

Near Nanking Walls

Among important points taken by the Japanese, it was claimed, were the suburbs of Tsigsiashan, 11 miles northwest of Nanking, Tsinglungshan, five miles south, and Fangshan, 10 miles to the southeast.

Advance Japanese troops were claimed to be less than 1,000 yards of the Nanking city walls—waiting for the order to swarm across and occupy the city.

Officials said the Nipponese would "wait for the remainder of the Chinese still left in Nanking to evacuate" before staging a "formal entry."

A terrific bombardment of Nanking was launched early in the afternoon to clear the path for the triumphal march into the capital. More than 90 planes soared and circled above the capital, dropping tons of high explosives. Chinese residents who had clung to their frail homes fled in terror.

What casualties or damage were inflicted by this aerial barrage was not known, but it was believed casualties must have been tremendous.

Japanese reports termed the bombardment the most extensive since the war began.

Seize Tomb Site

One Japanese column seized all Purple mountain, just outside Nanking, site of the $3,000,000 tomb of Sun Yat-Sen—a national Chinese shrine which only a few days ago Chiang Kia-Shek had prepared to defend with 300,000 of his best troops. The Japanese also captured a nearby suburban castle.

While Nippon's mighty military coils tightened around new China's "soul," Japanese officials here jubilantly proclaimed the "collapse of all Chinese resistance against Japan." Fall of Nanking, now apparently so imminent, will accomplish Japan's aim of "bringing China to her knees," they boasted.

Japanese advices from the front stated Japanese artillery "refrained" from bombarding Sun Yat-Sen's tomb, but said that Wuhu, 60 miles south of Nanking, had been gained with bombs during the course of the aerial attack on Nanking. This assault was officially described as a "combined general attack of military and naval air forces."

Japanese military dispatches attributed collapse of the Chinese forces at Nanking to the action of demoralized provincial troops, which were said to have retreated through the lines of three crack Chinese divisions assigned to battle to the death to save the capital.

The provincial forces broke, it was reported, as a result of the aerial bombardment, which lasted for two hours.

Rumors that the retreating Chinese were looting and burning the capital were stated to be without foundation, however, the United States flagship Augusta, stationed in the Whangpoo river, received a message from an American gunboat in the Yangtze river at Nanking at 9 a. m. stating "all was quiet" within the city's walls at that hour.

Shanghai Raided

Meanwhile, in Shanghai, foreign anger against the Japanese flared once again as the invaders gave a further demonstration of their determination to dominate the international settlement, regardless of foreign protests.

Japanese consular police raided the settlement area on the south side of Soochow creek and arrested a Korean—presumably for "Anti-Japanese activity." He was removed to the Japanese Hongkew section.

Early reports that large sections of Nanking had been swept by flames as the four Japanese columns closed in on the city aroused grave fears for the safety of Americans and other foreigners who elected to hold out there to the last moment.

Japanese advices that all foreigners except a few newspapermen had finally left the city were taken to indicate that the United States gunboat Panay, had rescued most of the Americans, along with other foreigners, and started up the Yangtze river toward Hankow.

This was merely a surmise, however, and the exact whereabouts of American nurses, physicians and missionaries who had taken refuge in the officially-evacuated United States embassy compound, declaring they would remain as long as possible, was not immediately known.

Chiang's flight was believed to have been undertaken on the advice of his counsellors, who persuaded him to forget his pledge to Sun Yat-Sen for the sake of China and order a general retreat before Nanking, founded by the first ruler of the ancient Ming dynasty 600 years before the birth of Christ, was reduced to a smouldering ruin.

A smoking, bomb-blasted Nanking, they feared, might symbolize a crushed China, its "soul" seared and its unity shattered in the flames and thunder of war. What Nanking in Japanese hands may symbolize—what new fury of resistance or trampled defeat it may bring—only time can tell.

Woman Is Indicted On Murder Charge

True Bill Against Rev. T. Dollar, Alleged Locater Of Hidden Treasure

In first returns made by the grand jury at Lawrence county court this morning a true bill was found against Rose Donofrio, charge with the murder of her son-in-law, James Aiello. It is claimed that Mrs. Donofrio shot Aiello in front of their home in the Seventh ward as a result of bitterness engendered through circumstances surrounding the marriage of Aiello to the defendant's daughter.

Rev. T. Dollar, alias Teddy Deem, was indicted on two charges, of false pretense, one by Elmer J. Miller and the other by Mrs. Ida McCurdy. It is claimed that Dollar represented himself as able to locate hidden treasure.

A true bill was found against Adam Pszenny and Mary Kudeleski, on the first and second counts of an indictment, charging sale of liquor on credit, and not a true bill on the third count, charging drawing liquor from an unmarked faucet.

A true bill was found against John Davis, charged with fornication and bastardy.

In the case of Pearl Cole charged with assault and battery on Pasquale Cole, a true bill was found.

HERSHEY CHAPTER DECEMBER SESSION

A Christmas pageant, "The Light of the Christmas Star in Many Lands" was presented Monday evening at the December session of Hershey Auxiliary in the First Presbyterian church.

Those taking part were Mrs. Robert Magill, Mrs. H. E. Grant, Mrs. Wilfred Thomas, Mrs. William Wheeler, Mrs. Vernon Dufford, Mrs. O. A. Hartman, Mrs. David Ritchie, Mrs. R. C. Melvin, Mrs. Arthur Foster and Mrs. Frank Orth.

A quartet composed of Mrs. Maurice Kelly, Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine, Mrs. J. A. McNeill, and Mrs. William Woodworth sang many of the beautiful Christmas carols of our own and other lands. Mrs. Charles Morris Johnson, of Pittsburgh, a guest of Mrs. William Margraff, gave a fine talk on the significance of perfumes in early Bible history, leading up to the time of the Wise Men's gifts to the Bethlehem Babe. The auxiliary enjoyed a rare treat in Mrs. Johnson's educational and Christian presentation of this subject.

Plans were completed for the fall festival on December 10 and the white Christmas service on December 19.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Maurice McLure, Mrs. J. A. McNeill, Mrs. Mead James, Mrs. R. C. Melvin, Mrs. William Moody, Mrs. Frank Orth and Mrs. John Parks.

Plan Christmas Party

The American Legion Auxiliary had a short business meeting in the Legion Home on December 6 with a large number of members present. Plans were made for a Christmas party when members and their families will gather for a tureen dinner and festivities.

For this party Mrs. Ruth Conners is chairman; Mrs. Edna Healen, Mrs. Francis Cope and Mrs. Lillian Falls are on the dining room committee; Mrs. Hazel Cooper, Mrs. Helen Brooks and Mrs. Ellen Daugherty are in charge of the kitchen arrangements; and Mrs. Anna Jones and Mrs. Dorothy Gaston will have charge of the treat.

The date, December 12; hour, 6 p. m.; and place, Legion Home.

After the meeting last night the ladies entertained their husbands and friends at a card and bingo party. Prizes in 500 went to Mrs. Helen Dunlap, Mrs. Irene Cag, Frank Conners and Homer Gordon; in bingo, Mrs. Robert Boyd, Mrs. Mary Wilson, George Henderson and Nick Speed. A special prize went to Mrs. Edith Ross.

At the close a delicious lunch was served by the committee. Mrs. Mary Craig and Mrs. Francis Cope had charge of cards, Mrs. Lillian Falls, and Mrs. Diana Sweet, bingo, Mrs. Edna Headland, Miss Lillie Hartman and Mrs. Ellen Daugherty, kitchen.

S. U. V. Auxiliary No. 249

Members of the Sons of Union Veterans Auxiliary, No. 249, will meet in Modern Woodman hall on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, for a social and business session. An exchange of Christmas gifts will be a part of the program.

Medical Society Meet

Mrs. Ralph Campbell will receive the members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Lawrence County Medical Society in her Hazelcroft avenue home on Thursday afternoon. The meeting is scheduled for two o'clock.

Take Auto Driver Before Alderman

Frank Williams, Rear 1127 Croton Avenue, Not 309 North Cascade Street, Arrested

Frank Williams, rear 1127 Croton avenue, who was arrested on a charge of driving an auto while intoxicated late Saturday night was charged with the offense by Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell, in an information sworn to before Alderman Claude Mantz. He was arrested following an accident in which his auto collided with that of Wilbert Madison of Sharon, in Croton avenue.

In connection with the arrest it was stated Monday that Williams lived at 309 North Cascade street. This was an error. There is a Frank Williams who lives there, but he was not connected with the case, and out of justice to him, The News makes the correction.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

House Speaker Is Criticized

Congressman Bankhead Is Blamed For Trying To Influence Legislation

SOME CONTEND HE HAS RIGHT

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Speaker William B. Bankhead of the house of representatives is being considerably criticized by congressmen, who blame him for trying to influence legislation.

Undoubtedly he has tried to do so.

Specifically the speaker believes in compulsory control of crop production—maybe not compulsory control of all kinds of crops, but compulsory control of cotton production, anyway. Hailing from Alabama, he naturally is particularly interested in cotton.

* * *

THREE IDEAS

There are three schools of thought on the subject of crop control.

School No. 1 favors penalizing farmers for producing above a certain designated limit—penalizing them by crushing taxation upon any production above any excess over that limit. Adherents of this school would even penalize buyers of the so-called over-plus.

School No. 2 does not favor penalization, but it does favor rewarding farmers who keep their production down to the government-ally-prescribed maximum.

School No. 3 opposes any limitation whatever.

* * *

IMPARTIALLY QUESTIONED

The merits of the respective arguments advanced by proponents of this triangle of agricultural philosophies do not signify, for present consideration.

The point is that Speaked Bankhead worships in No. 1's temple.

He worship too hard, spokesmen for Nos. 2 and 3 assert.

Their version is that, as speaker, he ought to be impartial. They say he is not. It is true. He is not. He is an active No. 1 worker.

* * *

SPEAKER'S POSITION

Now, the fact is that Speaker Bankhead is under no obligation to be impartial, except to give free rein to debate in the house of representatives. He is perfectly entitled to his vote and to his influence among his fellow lawmakers—as one of them. By virtue of his speakership, his influence unquestionably is greater than the influence of the rank-and-file of their number, but that does not serve to muzzle him. It is as much his right to call a temporary substitute to the chair and make a speech on the floor as it is the right of any other representative.

One complainant has said, "The speaker has thrown off his judicial robes"—to fight for compulsory crop control.

* * *

BANKHEAD DEFENDED

Such is unfair fault-finding.

The vice president is different. He has no voice in the senate; no vote, except to break a tie. A referee is all that he is—and a referee who ordinarily is not allowed much latitude, either. In the past a couple of vice presidents (Theodore Roosevelt and Charles G. Dawes) did attempt to "boss" the senate, but they were squelched in short order. John N. Garner has been more successful—but even he has to be careful how he exercises his unauthorized authority.

Bankhead, however, is as good a representative as any other representative. He is not a mere figurehead.

* * *

COULD BE OUTSIDER

It may not generally be known that the speaker of the house of representatives need not, theoretically, be a representative.

The representatives may, if they choose, select any outside Tom, Dick or Harry to preside over them. He, logically, would have to be impartial—no voice, no vote, no anything; just a factotum, like a secretary.

In England the speaker of the house of commons is on that status.

He is an unqualified servant.

His "judicial robes" are worth talking about.

In this country the lower congressional chamber's speaker is simply "one of the fellers".

It is not constitutional, but it is traditional.

CROP PRODUCTION

HARRISBURG—Farm crop production in the United States this year is only 6 per cent below the all-time peak reached in 1920. Production per capita this year exceeds that of the preceding four years but is much less than that during the 1920's.

President Awaits Report Of Dentist

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—President Roosevelt waited in the White House today for an X-ray report from his dentist which will determine whether an infected gum should be opened and the tissues scraped.

Preliminary examinations made both Lt. Comdr. Arthur H. Yando, his dentist, and Dr. Ross T. McIntire, White House physician, optimistic—although both cautioned the X-ray picture should be awaited.

Secretary to the President Stephen T. Early, who was present when Mr. Roosevelt swung off his special train late yesterday and went direct to the White House medical room for dental examination, predicted Mr. Roosevelt would be going through "a routine day" today.

Dr. McIntire, who suggested that the president cut his Florida fishing cruise 24 hours short so he might get proper treatment for the troublesome jaw, said, after Dr. Yando had probed into the gum, that it looked even better than he expected.

In Excellent Health.

In any event, neither McIntire nor Yando were disturbed over the president's condition. He may have to experience the temporary discomfort of having his jaw-bone scraped, but otherwise he is in "excellent health". Tanned from a week off the Florida Keys, Mr. Roosevelt's appearance bore testimony to this assertion as he returned to Washington and to the trials and tribulations of a congressional impasse and an increasingly serious situation in the far east.

Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead, House Majority Leader Rayburn, a majority of the cabinet and some ranking house members were waiting at the station to greet the president on his arrival from Florida. A slight snow flurry contrasted the balmier weather from which he had just departed.

There was no semblance of a conference aboard the president's private car, however. Five minutes after the train rolled in, Mr. Roosevelt was on his way to the White House. He paused smilingly on the rear platform for further pictures to belie rumors his health was impaired.

Conferences were expected today with congressional leaders and state department officials, providing the dental treatment was not too serious.

Prof. Haney Urges Wagner Labor Act Be Scrapped

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—In a sharp attack on the C. I. O., Dr. Lewis H. Haney, professor of economis at New York University, on Monday advocated "scrapping" of the Wagner Labor Act and the establishment of "fair agencies" in place of the National Labor Board.

He spoke before the National Industrial Council which is meeting concurrently with the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers and the Congress of American Industry.

He took issue with the contention that "the laborer has a right to his job." And deplored the mixing of politics with economics.

Prof. Haney declared that while he believed "collective bargaining is necessary," the experiences of 1937 has made him realize more fully than ever that "it takes two to make a bargain."

"In other words," he added, "unless the labor organization is representative of the laborers involved, and is animated by a bargaining spirit, it is not fitted to be one of the two similar agents that bargaining requires."

Prof. Haney said there are two essential aspects to collective bargaining:

"(1) It must be truly collective, which means, among other things, that the labor group must be able to act as a unit. This it can do only when the union is thoroughly representative of its entire membership. A Democratic form of organization, without coercion, is an important requisite. The union, therefore, must have a large degree of homegeneity, both geographical and occupational. This is one of the fatal weaknesses of the C. I. O. set-up. It is a travesty on collective bargaining to have a national or international group of all sorts of laborers bargaining with a single local employers.

"(2) It must result in a bargain, and that requires, first, that the agreement must be freely entered into, without violence or coercion. It follows that there can be no toleration of the general strike, the sympathetic strike, or any injury to the public done for the purpose of coercing the government. The greatest good of the greatest number, or the general welfare principle, requires a limit upon the power of the few to force the shut-down of a plant or an industry which employs many.

"Then the bargain must be consummated in a binding contract, with full responsibility on both sides."

He said the second session is that public conciliation and arbitration must be perfected so as to supplement private collective bargaining.

Three Are Killed In Accident At Mines In Nova Scotia

(International News Service)

SYDNEY MINES, N. S., Dec. 7—Three miners were killed in the Princess colliery of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company here early today when crushed by 14 empty coal cars hurtling down a slope.

The victims, Nelson Burgoyne, Walter Eveilly and Robert Paday, all were heads of families here.

Two companions, Dan and Rory McNeil, were injured seriously while a sixth man on the shift, Francis McClellan escaped with slight injuries. They were toiling up the slope to finish their shift when crushed by the cars, which broke loose in an unexplained manner.

Billion Will Be Requested For Defense

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1937.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—President Roosevelt is prepared to recommend a budget item of over one billion dollars for national defense in 1939—the largest army and navy appropriations since the world war, it was learned today.

Nearly 600,000,000 is expected to be demanded of congress for the navy and 500,000,000 for the army.

So dark a picture of the threatening international situation has been painted to the president by state department officials and the army and navy high commands that a definite speeding up in the modernization of America's national defenses has been decided upon, International News Service was informed.

The state department, under policies laid down by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, is guiding the United States in its foreign relations along a path definitely committed to keeping this country out of foreign wars. But developments in the far east and in Europe in recent months have convinced the White House, state, war and navy departments and responsible congressional leaders, that the United States' defenses, long neglected, must be brought up to the point where its world position will be reasonably secure and no aggressor nation will dare attack.

Francis Scott Key did not name his famous song "The Star Spangled Banner." He called it "Defense of Fort McHenry."

Uniformed Men Play An Important Role

Every football team must have its line. Without it clicking smoothly it is doubtful if the backfield could get away with any spectacular plays. And many times the backfield hears its praise, when half of the credit, at least, should be bestowed on the line. This is equally true of the uniformed men in a police department.

They are the men who often pave the way for sensational captures by plain clothes operatives. These officers must know the habits of everybody on their beats and know a stranger from a permanent resident. One of the men in uniform at the local police department is Carl Wallace, daylight officer in East Washington street.

Carl is a former service man. He served with Battery A, 107th Field Artillery, 28th Division in France. When he was mustered out of service he went to California for his health. He stayed three years in that state. Upon his return to New Castle he secured employment in the testing department at the National Radiator and in 1928 he was elected to the police department during the administration of Mayor William H. Gillespie.

His first patrol was in the Seventh ward. He was a night turn officer and continued in that role for six years. However, during the administration of Mayor Charles B. Mayne, the cruiser car system was inaugurated by John F. Haven who was chief of police, and Wallace was assigned to that division.

This division usually is "first on the scene," whether it be a burglar call, a cutting, shooting or search for prowlers. The men in cruiser cars must be alert and in times of domestic troubles must possess tact and diplomacy because nine out of ten times in such cases they adjust quarrels instead of hauling the parties concerned to the city building.

They must also use their powers of observation, which Wallace did one cold night in December. Word was flashed to all officers that a girl had been struck and killed by a motorist in Atlantic avenue. The officers were given tips as to the probable identity of the motorist and all of them sought the driver.

Wallace was in West Washington street when his eyes spotted a car which he believed was the auto involved in the accident. He took the driver into custody and later his belief was verified.

He was instrumental in breaking up a shoplifters ring here. He made three arrests in Apple way and it was not long until approximately a dozen or more were caught and punished.

Wallace was also connected with the solving of the theft of revolvers from the Armory. Five were stolen. The culprits were rounded up and punished.

In the days of prohibition he was connected with many arrests but for the past several years has been on day turn where he is used both to hunt criminals and to help keep traffic straightened.

Wallace has also been connected with cases in which he helped to gather information that resulted in arrests by detectives. When off duty and in season, his hobbies are fishing and hunting.

Seek To Isolate Deadly Germ In Mystery Plague

Chicago Doctors Discuss Methods To Prevent Spread Of Epidemic

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—With every minute vital, research workers today strove to isolate the germ of a mystery plague that has taken the lives of eleven infants at one hospital here.

At the same time more than a dozen prominent doctors in the city were summoned to an emergency meeting by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, to discuss methods of preventing a spread of the epidemic.

Eight babies stricken by the malady remained at St. Elizabeth hospital today and after an incessant forty-eight hour battle it was believed that the lives of all but perhaps one would be saved.

Three were in a critical condition yesterday but two rallied in the night. Blood transfusions, saline injections and an oxygen tent were employed to keep a spark of life in the other tiny body.

Following experiments with mice by health department experts it was hoped the lives of the other sufferers would be saved through isolation of the virus of the disease and discovery of the anti-toxin.

Blood specimens taken from the bodies of two babies who have already died proved fatal to the mice within a short time when injected into their veins.

Jersey City Police Put Quick End To Sit-Down Strike

(International News Service)

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 7.—The men sprawled on the locker-room floor of the Standard Cap and Seal Company looked up with mild interest as Police Chief Harry Walsh said:

"This is not Moscow. You men have no right to take over this property. Now leave or you'll be put out."

One yawned, an exaggerated much-bored yawn. Others looked into space, a few studied the police chief expressionlessly.

"Have it your way," said Walsh crisply and stepped to the door. Forty-five patrolmen crowded into the room, the 52 men on the floor stirred uneasily, straggled to their feet and headed for the door.

And in that fashion Jersey City's first sit-down strike came to an end. There were no arrests, no disturbance—the sit-downers looked at 45 nightsticks and abdicated less than an hour after they had begun their strike.

"A strike is one thing—this is another" Walsh told them as they walked silently past. If they heard him, they gave no indication.

Taxpayers Will Be Benefitted By Proposed Changes

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—Two more changes designed to relieve hardships of taxpayers claiming loss deduction under present revenue laws were tentatively approved by the house ways and means tax subcommittee Monday.

Chairman Fred L. Vinson (D) Kentucky, said the changes involved:

1. Lifting of the statute of limitations as it effects the years in which losses are claimed.

2. Permitting total loss deductions from taxable income in charging off capital assets employed in the taxpayer's business or trade.

The proposed changes were described by under secretary of treasury Roswell Magill as likely "to go a long way toward ending the fruitless controversy and hardships" over loss deduction between taxpayers and the internal revenue bureau.

Very little improvement has been shown in the condition of Joe Stinnett of Crescentdale, who suffered serious injuries in a dynamite explosion in the quarry mine of the Medusa Portland Cement company, near Crescentdale, November 27, which resulted in the death of his helper, Adam Stewart. Stinnett's condition is still serious, it is stated at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Open Lake Permits Car Ferry To Keep To Usual Schedule

P. R. R. Oar Boat, 'Ashtabula', Making Crossings To Canada

The Pennsylvania railroad's Lake Erie car ferry "Ashtabula", which transports loaded coal and ore cars between Ashtabula Harbor and Port Burwell, Ont., continues making her regular trips in spite of the winter season, Erie & Ashtabula division headquarters here reported today.

Railroad men expect winter weather to halt the shipments almost any day.

At Ashtabula this morning six inches of snow covered the ground and the temperature was 20. A stiff wind sailed in off the lake.

Besides being used extensively for sports dresses and other frocks, challis is being employed for handbags, shoes, scarfs and millinery for the resort season.

A cold frame which can be covered during the worst winter weather with glass, or some substitute for it, is the best place to carry over such half hardy plants as companulas, pansies and snap-dragons, which retain considerable foliage during the winter.

To prevent garden flowers from going to seed, gather them freely and cut off all the blossoms that have passed their stage of beauty. If you decide that you do want seed, leave only enough flowers to give you the desired amount. The less seed you allow to mature, the better your plants will blossom.

A. F. Of L. Rejects New Proposals

Says Actual Reunion With C. I. O. Or Warfare Only Solution Of Labor Trouble

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—Through its president, William Green, the American Federation of Labor rejected as impractical, suggestions from outside sources that though the A. F. of L. and the CIO cannot physically reunite, they work out some arrangement for harmony in policies and objectives.

Green said it simply couldn't be done under present conditions.

"There cannot be any such arrangement with the two factions apart as they are now," he told International News Service. "It would not be practical. It's either actual reunion or war."

All proposals for actual reunion have fallen through, and both sides today were mapping new campaigns for organization, throwing them more at odds than ever.

The A. F. of L. chief referred to proposals put forward by Senator Thomas (D) of Utah, new chairman of the senate labor committee. Thomas said that if reunion could not be accomplished, at least there would be some spirit of similarity in objectives between the two units.

Green would not comment on Thomas' further suggestion that a neutral arbiter step into the breach between the CIO and the A. F. of L. and try to settle the differences, both sides have made proposals in peace conferences, and each has stuck adamantly to its conditions. Thomas expressed the view of a third party, sympathetic to labor in general, might take the two opposing propositions and work out something suitable to each side.

Green revealed today that in his three conferences with CIO Chief John L. Lewis, neither got down to the stage of specifically outlining peace proposals. The talk, he said, was completely general, and never brought the two labor leaders closer together than sparring distance. No progress was made and the conference collapsed after three meetings.

Divorce Decree For Einstein's Daughter

(International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 7.—A preliminary divorce decree was expected to be entered in chancery court here today for Mrs. Margot Marianoff, sculptor and daughter of the eminent Dr. Albert Einstein.

The exiled German scientist, now a professor at Princeton university, testified his son-in-law, Dmitri Marianoff, formerly his assistant, failed to support his wife who became dependent upon her father. The court then recommended a preliminary decree for Mrs. Marianoff.

The application was uncontested. It was testified Marianoff deserted his wife in Paris in 1934, four years after their marriage.

Salesman Says He Was Robbed

Declares Kidnapers Robbed Him Of $100,000 Worth Of Diamonds In California

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7—Police and federal agents joined today in the search for two men reported to have kidnaped and robbed Louis Heyman, New York jewel salesman of $100,000 worth of diamonds.

Heyman told officers the two forced him to drive several blocks in his car, then made him get out and drove off with the case of precious stones.

Heyman said he believed the men had trailed him from New York. He later identified one from police photographs.

The daring robbery occurred while Heyman sat in his parked car waiting for his fellow salesman, Edward V. Hutton, to make a business call.

The car was found a few blocks from where Heyman was ordered out of it.

Earlier Heyman and Hutton had stopped at the Roach-Driver jewelry store, of which Hal Roach, movie producer, is part owner, and it was considered the robbers might have been watching the store for the arrival of a new shipment for holiday trade and have followed Heyman and Hutton from there.

Reports Persist Young Man Has Been Kidnaped

Relatives Insist Kidnap Reports Are Wrong—Say He's Having Good Time

(International News Service)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 7—Reports of a $200,000 ransom demand, of actual contact with a kidnap gang persisted today as relatives of Arthur Fried, young contractor's manager missing since Saturday night stoutly maintained that he had "just gone off for a good time."

Conferences between G-men and police and extensivenesss of the search indicated something more than "a good time" behind Fried's disappearance.

A casual "see you later"—Fried's words as he helped his wife into his brother-in-law's car and promised to come to the latter's apartment in his own car were the last heard from the 31-year old Fried.

It was Harold Daniels, the brother-in-law, who insisted—"nothing has happened to Arthur. He's been away like this before."

But there were reports that Fried's brother Hugo, visited a Manhattan bar as the result of a mysterious telephone calll got another call while there and was given instructions to look for a note on the top of the towel container in the men's washroom.

The reports had it that Hugo found the note—a demand for $200,000 ransom and a warning to "keep the police out of this"'—and that he took it to the authorities here.

Scores Of Rescue Workers Hunting For Lost Miner

Man Lost In Maze Of Coal Mine Tunnels Since Last Sunday

(International News Service)

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill., Dec. 7.—In constant danger from deadly black damp scores of rescue workers spread their search today for Lawrence Lee lost since Sunday in a maze of old coal mine tunnels.

Fears grew for the safety of the 28-year-old mine bookkeeper as the hours passed without any clues to his whereabouts. Seasoned miners in the searching parties were gloomy about the chances of finding the young man alive.

Already, they said, he may have been run into a pocket of the black damp or been buried under a sudden fall of loose shale. Even if he escapes such hazards, they pointed out he might wander until exhausted in the uncharted diggings that cover more than four square miles.

But despite the slim chances of him being found, nearly a hundred friends and co-workers in the cooperative mine pressed on with the hunt. The work was divided among crews of five or ten, the groups being kept small to save others from being lost and to carry on the search more systematically.

Lee became lost, it was believed, when he tried to carry out his often expressed wish of exploring abondoned tunnels in the mine. He had gone below Sunday morning with John Ingram, a miner, to get a supply of coal to heat the office and run the machinery.

After loading one of the small cars, Lee said he wanted to get some empty kegs his father, Richard Lee, 66, one of the mine workers, had left for him the day before.

New Troopers Open Training On Dec. 13

First Group Of 500 To Be Added To List Ready For Classes

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7—The first of the 500 men to be added to the force of the Pennsylvania motor police will begin their three months' training period December 13. Buildings formerly occupied by Albright College at Myerstown, Lebanon Co. have been leased by the motor police.

Approximately 85 men will comprise the first group to undergo their training. These men have been selected from a previous eligibility list established last summer when a class of 55 began training at the regular school in Hershey.

Maj. Lynn G. Adams, former head of the State police, and who recently resigned as deputy commissioner of the motor police, had charge of selecting the class that is now in training at Hershey. After the class was chosen there were 112 men on the eligible list.

Take Examinations

During the last few days the men on the eligible list have been given their physical examinations. Already 81 have been accepted and five more men are to undergo these tests.

The new class which starts its trainint at Myerstown will be given three months instruction in traffic police work. The group now at Hershey will complete its training in March.

Today written examinations were given to approximately 2000 applicants. The oral examinations are to be held next week, after which the eligible lists will be prepared. Physical examinations will be given later and it is hoped to have the first of the new group in training by December 27

Man Requests Jail Sentence

(International News Service)

WILLIMANTIC, Conn., Dec. 7.—A superior court judge here will act today on the request of Joseph Bourbeau, 28, that he be sentenced to a year in jail "as the best way to stop fighting with his wife."

Arraigned in court at Putnam, Bourbeau entered a plea of guilty to a charge of theft "so he could remain separated" from his 25-year-old wife, Julia. After asking for a sentence of a year in jail "as protection against becoming reconciled with her," he was bound over to superior court here.

"We agreed this was the best way," he said. "We have been fighting ever since we were married a year and a half ago."

John D. Jr., Doesn't Like Picture Taking

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has a distinct aversion to having his picture taken, it developed today.

After conferring with Mayor F. H. LaGuardia on a public housing matter, the financier was coyly asked by a photographer to "watch the birdie". He became so incensed that he lost his temper and also his umbrella, denouncing the photographer roundly and stalking off without the umbrella.

Large Number Of Race Nominations

(International News Service)

SANTA ANITA, Cal., Dec. 7.—Ninety-three thoroughbreds today were nominated for the fourth running of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, March 5, 1938, at a mile and a quarter.

This tops all previous marks last season when 88 were named.

War Admiral, Seabiscuit, Rosemont, Pompoon, Heelfly, Top Row, Time Supply, Sceneshifter, Fairy Hill, Aneroid, were included in the stellar field along with 18 foreign horses.

Very new is a two-piece hairy wool sports dress in tobacco brown with the blouse slightly fitted and the skirt simply gored. Dull yellow revers with matching collar and buttons are employed.

Thief Scatters Loot In Flight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—An intensive diamond hunt was on in the Park Row area today, with office workers and Bowery bums keeping a weather eye on the sidewalk for nine valuable rings.

A thief who snatched a dozen rings from a store window, had only three of them in his possession when captured after a wild chase. It was believed the other nine, valued at $3,200, were scattered along the streets in the neighborhood.

Senior Play Friday Night At Union High

Cast Is Announced For Annual Production Of Township Senior Class

Friday evening, members of the senior class of the Union Township high school will bring forth their best acting to present the traditional class play. It will be the endeavor of the students to take the minds of their audience away from the chilly blasts of winter, and concentrate them on a play which bears the title, "Spring Fever."

The curtain will rise at 8 o'clock on Friday evening, and from advance seat reservations a capacity crowd is expected to fill the school auditorium.

"Spring Fever" is a play which centers about a college boarding house the day before commencement. One of the graduating class is in trouble because of low grades. His Aunt Maud comes to his rescue by vamping the professor into passing her nephew. Fun, love, money, and trouble are all put together to make this skit a very entertaining, comical program.

The production is being sponsored by Milton Pattison and Miss Margaret Beck. Pattison has announced the following cast for this play: Bill King, Jack Neal, Ruth Raney, Geraldine Covert, Betty Gilliland, Dorothy Zimmerman, Bob Bentley, Bob McKinney, Scot Morrison and Dorothy Smith.

Maximum Wages For W.P.A. Workers Before Christmas

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—Every opportunity to earn maximum wages before Christmas will be given the 157,000 workers on the WPA payrolls in Pennsylvania, State Administrator J. Banks Hudson promised today.

All district directors and branch office managers were instructed to re-schedule projects to permit security wage earners to earn their scheduled December wages before Christmas, Hudson said. The Washington office ordered the move.

In addition, workers will be permitted to make up any allowable lost time that is possible prior to Christmas. The re-scheduling and expedition of the December payrolls will mean the distribution of more than $8,000,000 before the Yule season, Hudson pointed out.

All payrolls submitted before noon December 21 will be paid in time for the season. At the same time, Hudson said only 142 members of the WPA roster returned to private industry last week, the lowest weekly return since the inception of the program.

The week's total of 142 is significant when compared to the weekly average of 678 over the past 52 weeks, he said. Sharp industrial recession was blamed.

College To Honor Amelia Earhart

GREENVILLE, Pa., Dec. 7—The Thiel College board of trustees today announced plans for a nation-wide educational memorial for Amelia Earhart Putnam, whose grandfather was one of the founders of the Lutheran Synod, which created the college.

The intrepid woman flier, lost on a round-the-world hop, received an honorary degree from this Northwest Pennsylvania College in 1932. Her father was graduated from Thiel.

ible rims that would flatten out on the road as they ran.

Eventually, an experiment with the tricycle of his young son, led him to make a tire of sheet rubber, bound to the rim with strips of linen and inflated with air. It was 'faster" than solid tires. From that point it was easy for him to figure out a way to make a tire with air-valves, that could be glued to the rim. He formed a companyand began manufacturing bicycle tires.

No until a year or two later, was it discovered that Dunlop's invention had been anticipated 43 years before by Robert William Thompson who patented a tire consisting of a non-stretchable outer cover of leather and an inner tube of rubber to hold air. It was manufactured for horse-carriages and made riding over the rough roads of the day appreciably easier. But Thompson's tire was ahead of his time, and he was no salesman. It attracted little attention, and he never profited.

Dunlop was a good salesman. He made a large part of the world "bicycle conscious" to get his tires used, and in consequence, his company quickly piled up profits of $2,000,000 a year and more.

place the partial planning of the New Deal by extended government interference on a nation-wide scale and to convert the United States gradually into a socialist republic, or to give Big Business a free hand, repeal all anti-speculative taxes, shut down on TVA experiments, and let the leaders of Wall Street, the utilities, banks, railways and steel 'pull things around' in their own way."

* * *

IS IT A "RACKET?"

The article continues:

"If the capitalist racket in the United States is to work, the racketeers—as the president is beginning painfully to realize — must be allowed to make their own rules. And Mr. Roosevelt is unprepared to take up the challenge which Big Business has fung down.

"Because he was a liberal denying the existence of a class conflict he was ideally equipped to pull up American phychology in 1933 from the despond of depression when capitalism was sufficiently frightened to be willing to accept a dictator who preached social justice but saved Wall Street from financial disintegration at the price of being regimented by a securities and exchange commission..

"Because he remains a liberal clinging pathetically to the belief that social justice and capitalism are compatible, he will lead no revolutionary assault against the system of production for profit. This being so, his surrender to the entrenched financial interests may be gradual, but it will be as certain as the post-war capitulation of Mr. Lloyd George, with whose political makeup he has so much in common. The president is not the man to die for causes which have lost their popularity.

"With industrial 'shutdowns' looming ahead and congress openly rebellious, the New Deal, it is to be feared, is destined to do the safe way as the Land Fit for Heroes.

"Mr. Roosevelt's empirical liberalism, when it comes to the test of the class issue, is not enduring stuff."

Relief Survey Committee Will Draft Findings

Administration Of Relief Under Secretary Karl De Schweinitz Will Be Made Public

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—Gov. George H. Earle's relief survey committee this week will begin writing its report on the administration of relief in Pennsylvania under Karl De Schweinitz, secretary of public assistance, it was revealed today.

Donald Livingston, public utility commissioner and chairman of the relief survey group, said enough data pertaining to the administrative policies had been gathered and that the committee would begin making up its report on Tuesday.

Strict Orders.

The committee is under orders from the governor to report on charges of "inefficiency and waste" in the department under the De Schweintz regime. The charges were presented by Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, sister of U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, following the transfer of Major Phillip Matthews, deputy secretary of the department, to the governor's office.

De Schweinitz has categorically denied charges levelled at his relief organization. The governor has said he will announce his decision on a possible revision of the assistance department the day following his return from Sweden on Dec. 16.

Meanwhile, speculation over a posible successor to De Schweinitz in the event Governor Earle requests his resignation centered about Major Mathews, Secretary of Welfare Arthur Howe, and deputy Secretary of Welfare Edith B. De Witt, who is also vice chairman of the Democratic state committee.

Plan To Resume Airship Service Across Atlantic

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—Germany will resume her trans-Atlantic dirigible service using non-explosive American helium gas this spring, it was learned today.

The LZ-130 sister ship of the ill-fated Hindenburg which exploded and burned at Lakehurst, N. J. early last May as it completed its first trans-oceanic voyage of the season, is expected to take the lost Hindenberg's place in regular service between Germany and the United States next May.

The munitions control board of the state department today authorized export of 17,900,000 cubic feet of helium gas to Germany to inflate the LZ-130. The Hindenberg and all previous German dirigibles had been inflated with inflammable hydrogen.

The authorization for export of this huge amount of helium extends for a period of one year after November 1 and was granted to the American Zeppelin Transport, Inc., New York, agent for Deutsche Zeppelin Reederei, G. M. B. H., Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany. No export licenses have yet been applied for or issued.

Rotary Greets Two Newcomers Monday

Rev. McLean, Mr. Tully Formally Welcomed; Hear Committee Heads

Induction of two new members, one of whom was formerly a Rotarian here, and reports of committee heads featured Monday's weekly meeting of the New Castle Rotary club. The luncheon session at The Castleton was given over to business, with President Walter W. Duff presiding.

Obligated into the club membership were the Rev. W. V. McLean, new pastor of the First M. E. church, and Robert J. Tully, retired Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation executive here and at Clairton, Pa., and Youngstown. Tully was president of Clairton's Rotary club, but he has had his membership transferred here. Frank L. Orth obligated the two.

All phases of Rotary activity were reported yesterday and the customary knockers' committee report was given. Richard E. Rentz announced that a Ladies' Night party is planned for Tuesday, January 4, 1938 at The Castleton and Harold R. McCulloch announced that in February the Rotarians will play host again to their farmer friends.

J. Lee McFate, in behalf of the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis society, urged the members to purchase Christmas seals.

The Colony In New York Carries On Despite Death Of One Of Partners

ANOTHER WRITER BECOMES RANCHER

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—There was great headwagging as to what would happen to the town's most fashionable restaurant, The Colony, when Ernest Cerutti passed away at sea on his annual visit to Italy a year ago. Ernest, with his partner Gene, now in command, piloted the place to its deserved fame.

They were considered masters in team work. A "united we stand, divided we fall" combination. But Gene has carried on alone successfully. The Colony is the only dining place to inspire free write-ups in Town and Country, The New Yorker and Fortune. Its clientele is top notch.

O. O. McIntyre

The place it without pomp, inside and out. The entrance a few steps off Madison in the 60's is up a short, narrow flight of steps. The bar and reception room are postage stamp size. No flunkies in livery. Just Bill, the wash room boy, who knows society better than the Social Register.

The dining room itself is small but clean and comfortable. Crowds do not flock to the Colony. The prices are high and food is the thing. Undesirables somehow never go back. There is no music, and by 10 o'clock waiters begin stacking chairs on the tables.

Frazier Hunt is still another writer to drift from world capitals to the isolation of a ranch in Alberta. For years the Alexis, Ill., born scribbler has been making his base in such Cosmopolitan centers as London, New York and Shanghai. His acres adjoin the Canadian place owned by the Duke of Windsor. Along with his literary output, Hunt is making a success of cattle raising and comes to New York only to talk things over with editors.

Chop chop: For the first time I came upon an intoxicated Chinese yesterday. Beautifully bottled, he was weaving across 54th street with a handful of ivory hewn back scratchers which he was trying to sell after bowing and delivering his singsong talk.

Down in the bar at Whyte's venerable restaurant on Fulton street is a painting of Herald Square, done in 1900. It was also on view at the Buffalo fair when President McKinley was shot. Jim Corbett's saloon is shown in the foreground and there is a conspicuous sign—"manicure, pedicure, coiffure"—hands, feet and head. Even 37 years ago the beauticians were in evidence.

Like Job, the thing which they greatly fear seems to come upon the radio announcers. Namely, strange throat troubles which deprive them of voice. There's scarcely a week one is not stricken with laryngitis and there is that affliction called "gimpies" which often comes, lightning-like, to render a victim hoarse just before broadcasting. In the pockets of such experts as Clem McCarthy, Graham McNamee, Sam Taub and other gatling-gun-gabbers will always be found palliatives. Rudy Valee and Floyd Gibbons use a pellett that costs several dollars for a small packet.

The zipper vogue, along with the economics of the world has played hob with the calling of lady's maid. The tedious problem of dealing with hooks and eyes and buttons is now accomplished with a quick swish of the wrist. Even the elaborate evening gowns that required so much maid service are now zipperized. An expert lady's maid, was one of the most highly specialized callings, usually held by trained French or German girls. Many of them got as high as $125 a month and their keep. Today the Job Wanted columns are filled with their pleas for work.

In the days when the theatre was theatre, the lady's maid to a great star lived in the grand manner. She was the buffer between star and public. Tips were hefty. Also, the maid traveled from city to city, often in private coach, and resided in the royal suites of magnificent hotels. Lily Langtry's maid, Gwennie, became almost as famous as her mistress. She was Titian haired, of the voluptuous Lillian Russell type, and was followed across the country by two of New York's reigning beaux of that era. I recall leaning against a post across from The Casino so long to watch her leave the stage exit one evening that a cop nudged me to move on. That was the time I told him, walking away fast, that I was a free born American citizen and had my rights, so I had.

Unemployment Pay Will Start

New Social Security Experiment To Begin With New Year

HALF BILLION IN FUND AT PRESENT

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Losing your job after New Year's? It's not a cheerful prospect but Uncle Sam has about $500,000,000 in the family sock to take care of such emergencies.

It won't be a dole, but more of an insurance benefit, the premiums for which the boss has been paying out of his own pocket these many months.

After January 1 Uncle Sam will embark on another ambitious social experiment in caring for the "other one-third". The unemployment compensation act goes into effect at that time.

Twenty-One States Ready.

Twenty-one states and the District of Columbia will be ready then to grant payments for a limited, readjusted period to those who lose their jobs through no fault of their own. Other states and territories will fall in line subsequently, all having enacted enabling legislation.

Unemployment compensation was designed to aid the unemployed in weathering the economic storms, and, at the same time, relieve a relatively small pressure from the relief burden of federal, state and local governments. The government became an insurance company, in effect, with employers paying the premiums, two per cent of the payroll this year.

There has been a definite system of routine which a worker must follow to qualify for compensation benefits.

Why Lindberghs Came Back To U. S.

Several Reasons Given For Sudden Arrival Of Famous Pair In U. S.

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Why did the Lindberghs come home?

1. To test the "publicity atmosphere". To gauge the possibility that they might return soon from their self-imposed exile in England to a quiet life in the United States.

2. Because Mrs. Anne Lindbergh was "somewhat homesick" to see her family over the Christmas holidays.

3. Due to "certain" business.

This was the explanation for the sudden return of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh relayed to International News Service Monday as a friend of Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother-in-law of the noted flyer.

County Commissioner George H. Bolinger has returned from a hunting expedition to Forrest county, where he was successful in bagging a deer.

Judge James A. Chambers delivered his last charge to a grand jury at the opening of court Monday morning. The charge was somewhat longer than usual and went exhaustively into the history and the duties of grand juries.

Charles Hartzell presented a petition to court setting forth that he was proposing to foreclose a mortgage for $2,250 against Earl and Hazel Houk, and as Mr. Houk is in a hospital there was no one on which papers could be served. The court appointed Hazel Houk ad litem.

The county commissioners, sitting as a board of tax revision, heard Taylor, Union, Washington, Wayne and Wilmington townships on Monday. This closes the hearings for townships. On December 8 the boroughs will be taken up. The first on the list are Bessemer, Ellport, Ellwood City, First ward; Ellwood, Second ward; Ellwood, Third ward.

Judge W. Walter Braham has handed down an opinion in the case of Louise Rubino against Harden Green and Robert J. Shearer, in which he strikes off a judgment confessed on a lease. The case was one in which the plaintiff had confessed judgment against the defendant on a warrant of attorney contained in a hold over lease. The property had been leased for a period of two years, and contained the usual provision that if the lessee continued on the property after the expiration of the lease it automatically renewed itself for another period, but the defect in the lease, according to the opinion, was that there was nothing written into the blank spaces, which should have indicated the period for which the lease was to hold over. The court held that a tenant on a hold over lease is a tenant at suffrage. The lessor has the option of regarding such a tenant as a trespasser or may continue the tenant from year to year. In the case in question the lease was silent on the hold over period and the tenant moved out.

Sixty-two instruments of all kinds were entered at the register and recorder's office last week. Of this number 30 were deeds and 19 mortgages. Eight of the mortgages, totaling $16,000 were given to building and loan associations, five totaling $7,100 to banks, five totaling $7,200 to individuals and one for $36 to the Real Estate Improvement Company.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard and Deputy Elmer Taylor conducted their last sheriff sale Monday selling 11 properties. All of them were knocked down to the holders of the mortgages. Pritchard and Taylor have held every sale since they started in, neither being absent at any time.

In the case of the commonwealth against Ralph Iusi, convicted of transferring a motor license number without being issued authority to do so, Judge W. Walter Braham handed down an opinion in which the defendant is granted a new trial. Circumstances of the case were somewhat unusual. The defendant, who is an automobile dealer at Sharpsburg, Pa., sold a second hand car, to a man named Hampton. The car was thrown back on Iusi's hands several times. Early in 1937 it was sold again to G. H. Major, who in turn sold it to William Miles. The latter noticed that there was no engine number, and because of this was unable to get a certificate of title.

He went to see Iusi, and called the matter to his attention. Later defendant came to Miles place with dies and placed a number on the engine block. It developed that during the various ownerships of the car something went wrong with the engine, and a new engine block had been obtained, on which there was no number. The number which Iusi placed on it with his dies, was the same as the original number which had been on the engine block, and the number with which it had been titled. Later Iusi was arrested for transferring a number. The court holds that there does not appear to have been any criminal intent on the part of Iusi and believes that he should have a new trial at which the facts can be brought out.

States Can Impose Poll Tax, Ruling

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The supreme court today unanimously ruled that states can impose poll taxes as a condition for voting for president, vice president and members of congress.

It upheld a Georgia law to this effect, which was attacked as unconstitutional by Nolen R. Breedlove of Atlanta, Ga., backed by the American Civil Liberties Union.

Thirty-seven states were affected by the decision, since they have laws of varying character requiring payment of poll tax before persons are allowed to cast ballots.

TREAT A COLD AS IF YOU MEAN IT!

Don't Fool Around with Half-way Measures!

One of the worst things you can do is "kid around" with a cold.

The so-called "common cold" causes more serious sickness and more enforced absence from work than anything else.

It's a mistake to treat a cold lightly. A cold calls for a cold treatment and not a "cure-all." A cold calls for internal treatment, for a cold is an internal infection.

Your Stand-by!

What you should take for a cold are Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets)!

First of all, Bromo Quinine tablets are a real cold medicine, made expressly for the treatment of colds.

Secondly, they are internal medication.

They do four things:

First, Bromo Quinine tablets open the bowels.

Second, they check the infection in the system.

Third, they relieve the headache and fever.

Fourth, they tone the system and help fortify against further attack.

Bromo Quinine tablets may be taken with confidence.

The fact that they have been on the market for over 40 years and that they are the largest-selling cold tablet in the world, assures you of their reliability.

Your Best Bet!

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. Both kinds are sold by all druggists, a few cents a box.

Remember, as soon as a cold makes its appearance, turn to Bromo Quinine tablets!

Ask for—and demand—Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets)! No reliable druggist will offer you a substitute.

State And County G. O. P. Leaders To Have Conference

Preparing For State Campaign

Governor To Be Elected During Coming Year; Also Other Officers

POLICY OF PARTY TO BE DISCUSSED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—Groundwork for the Republican gubernatorial campaign in 1938 entered its first stages as heads of the G. O. P. state committee prepared for a conference of state and county leaders here on wednesday.

G. Edward Green, state chairman, and other members of the executive branch of the state committee were to meet with Republican county chairmen and vice chairmen to discuss policy and ways and means of financing the state organization.

Wednesday's conference will be the first of a series of policy-formulating gatherings planned by the state committee for the next several months.

Featuring this week's meeting was to be a report from the policy committee of the executive branch concerning the "cross section" findings of the Republican Crusaders organization. The Crusaders report was presented to a reorganization gatherings of the state committee in Altoona last September.

Over 47,000 Replies

Authors of the report claim it incorporates the opinions of 47,000 of 130,000 registered Republicans who were queried in the state. It recommended a "junta" with "liberty-loving Democrats" before the 1938 election. Further, it showed the majority of voters who returned questionnaires were disgruntled with present G. O. P. leadership, state and national.

The policy committee is comprised of Senator G. Mason Owlett, national committeeman; Miss S. M. R. O'Hara, vice chairman of the state committee; James H. Duff, Pittsburgh attorney; Congressman William H. Ditter, Montgomery county; Jay Cooke, Philadelphia Republican chairman; State Representative Ellwood J. Turner, Delaware county, and Frank Hulton, Wyomissing, chairman of the Young Republicans of Pennsylvania.

Simultaneously, Republican legislators who have proposed a nation-wide series of "zone" conferences for various states' legislators will confer here. They are headed by Rep. Turner, chairman of the house Republican steering committee.

NEW WAY TO RELIEVE PILES

The agony and pain caused by piles (hemorrhoids) has at last been brought under scientific control. ZIRIL suppositories, the newest prescription for the relief of soreness, itching, burning and minor bleeding of this painful ailment, contain a combination of modern medicines which relieves pain within an almost unbelievably few seconds. No narcotics, no harmful drugs. Pain gone and bleeding checked. A prominent rectal specialist pronounces them ideal for the purpose. Why bother with old-fashioned remedies, when this new, modern, scientific treatment gives such quick relief.

ZIRIL is also made in the form of an ointment for the relief of itching, minor bleeding and burning of external or protruding piles.

ZIRIL suppositories, costing only 50¢ and $1.00 a box, and ZIRIL Ointment at 50¢ a tube are sold by all druggists.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council is in the preliminary stage of budget making for 1938 but there is one thing upon which they are in wholehearted agreement and that is, there will be no increase in tax millage unless absolutely necessary. It is reported a request has been made for several new trucks. Whether they will be provided, finally remains a question. No wage raises are contemplated and no provision is being made for an increase in city employes despite the 44-hour week law.

Building operations during November cost $8,610, according to estimates provided by contractors at the department of engineers. Two new homes are being built at a cost of $6,800 and four new garages, at a cost of $610. Remodelling will cost $1,200.

First snow, and a heavy downfall, at that, failed to interrupt the parking meters. Some persons believed that snow would seep through the slot and interfere with the mechanism but such failed to materialize. In fact no difficulty with meters has been experienced since new mechanism was installed.

Street department employes yesterday placed ashes on paved hillsides, at street intersections and no doubt many auto accidents were averted. It is also probable that, in the future, ashes will be scattered in school zones to give tires a "grip" so no school children will be injured.

LEESBURG

BROTHERHOOD MEETS

The Brotherhood of the local church held its regular monthly meeting in the church on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock with a full attendance.

Prof. Creig S. Hoyt, of Grove City, the guest speaker of the evening gave an excellent address on "Character". Kenneth Tunstall furnished special music on a guitar and harmonica and George Cunningham and Clarence and Howard Collins gave vocal numbers.

Lunch was served by a committee composed of Monas Collins, chairman, W. W. Hill, Louis Coleman, Walter Armstrong, Lemuel Drake, J. B. Mathieson and Frank Palmer. The next meeting will be on December 29.

ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. William Armstrong was hostess to the Full Of Pep club at her home Thursday. The usual tureen dinner was served at noon followed by a business and devotional period, conducted by the president, Mrs. W. J. Mayberry.

WILL GIVE PAGEANT

The colonial pageant recently presented in the Pulaski Presbyterian church under the direction of Rev. Luther McDonald will be reproduced in the local church, Thursday, December 9, at 7:30 p. m.

The pageant, covering the period from 1776 to 1790, depicts the founding of the Presbyterian church in Western Pennsylvania. A log cabin erected in the church is furnished as the colonial fathers furnished their homes and as far as possible, the spirit of the period is reconstructed with authentic costumes, dialogues andn furnishings.

CLUB WILL MEET

The Dorcas Society will hold a meeting at the church Wednesday.

The election of officers and a Christmas exchange will take place at this meeting.

LEESBURG NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. John Woods of Mercer, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Sweezy Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Grundy, Jr., of Grove City, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Grundy, Sr.

Mrs. W. J. Mayberry and Mrs. Paul Macom were recent guests of their sister, Selkirk Burgess, of Grove City.

Mrs. James Oakes, Mrs. Clyde Oakes and Mrs. Carmen Hawthorne attended the baby show at Sharon, Friday afternoon.

Carmen Hawthorne accompanied Ed. Hoovler, E. W. Walker and Earl Black, of New Wilmington, to Endeavor, Forest county, Pa., Saturday, where they hunted big game. The former was successful in bagging a 6-point buck and the latter a 4-point buck.

Supreme Court New Tax Ruling

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Sweeping away past precedents, the supreme court, in a 5 to 4 decision Monday ruled that the state of West Virginia can impose a gross receipts tax upon money paid by a contractor for building dams.

Chief Justice Hughes delivered the majority opinion, which may have far-reaching effect in widening the powers of both national and state governments in taxation.

Burton To Again Head Fair Board

Scott Township Man Is Renamed Monday; 1938 Fair Time Set

J. L. Burton of Scott township was re-elected president of the board of directors of the New Castle Agricultural association for another year when the directors organized for 1938 at a meeting in a downtown office yesterday.

C. M. McCormick of Scott township was re-named vice president, Thomas A. Gilkey, New Castle, was re-named treasurer and A. Clyde Shoaf, this city, was chosen again as secretary.

Mr. Burton, the re-elected president, is the only present director who served on the fair organization's original board.

August 23, 24, 25 and 26 were the dates chosen for the 1938 fair, Secretary Shoaf reported. It will be a day and night exhibition.

Will Represent New Castle In State Hearings

City council at their municipal building session Monday authorized Walter Greenwood, president of the League of Cities of the Third Class to represent the city in any action in opposition to the new 44-hour week law. This action was provided for in a resolution submitted by Councilman James L. Fink.

The resolution provided that President Greenwood should represent the city before the department of labor or industrial boards; make application for exemption of the city in its entirety and also ask exemption relative to firemen and police and further, asked that enforcement of the new law be postponed until the beginning of the fiscal year of 1939.

Campman Will Get Hearing On Friday

Earl E. Campman, 19, 631 Superior street, pleaded not guilty when arraigned yesterday by Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell before Alderman Wallace J. Ewing on a charge of attempted robbery of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur U. Wolfe, Wilmington avenue, at the B. & O. and P. & L. E. depot in the Seventh ward early Monday.

Alderman Ewing set his hearing for Friday, December 10.

Campman was arrested by city police, who traced him in fresh snow when he fled from the station to a point near the Mahoning river bridge.

'Kettles' To Help Army Yule Treat

The Salvation Army "donation kettles" will be on the downtown streets until Christmas, Captain Clifford Scoffield, in charge of the local branch, announced today. The Army placed the kettles on the streets Saturday.

Through the cash received from pedestrians the Army conducts its usual Christmas charity work. Many needy families will be reached.

Veteran Clock In City Council Needs Repairs

Approximately 35 years ago McConaghy, a jeweler of those days, presented the city with a clock.

It has since been in the council chambers and rarely failed to keep good time.

However, today it is still and according to C. Ed. Brown, city clerk, it is in need of repair.

It was this clock by which council conducted its meetings. Whenever the hour was 10 a. m. on council days council had to convene.

Civil Service Test For Police

Applicants To Be Examined On December 20, It Is Announced

Attorney Ralph A. Cooper, secretary of the civil service board for police, today stated that arrangements are under way for the board to conduct an examination of applicants for police positions, December 20, because the present eligible list will expire December 21.

There are now several persons serving in the temporary capacity of policemen. They have been on the job for some time.

Under an existing ordinance all persons shall have graduated from a state police training school before they are named permanently to the force.

It is not known here if the Pennsylvania Motor police will continue to train men for police jobs in municipalities.

All the men now serving temporarily have passed the civil service test.

Detroit Police May Become Walking Radio Stations

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Dec. 7.—This city's 3200 patrolling police officers may become walking radio receiving stations. The police department today considered a plan to equip each officer with a two-pound radio receiving set through which he would be in constant touch with headquarters. The set under consideration, which cost $80 and is equipped with batteries that cost 15 to 20 cents daily, is six inches long, four inches wide and two inches thick.

How to Make Better Cough Remedy Than You Can Buy

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It is far better than anything you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is positively the most effective quick-acting cough remedy that money could buy. Instantly, you feel it penetrating the air passages. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen its equal for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

ON WHAT WIVES REALLY WANT FOR CHRISTMAS

...FROM ONE WHO KNOWS!

Listen Mister! —I know. I've tried all the usual gifts, just as you have.

But I never made myself half so popular as I did last year, when my gift to my wife was a Westinghouse Electric Range. The Westinghouse dealer helped me in every way, to decide which range we needed, even to getting it smuggled into the house.

The way I figure, our Westinghouse Range made such a hit because it gives my wife things she really wants — more leisure time, better cooked food for our family, a cool, pleasant kitchen, real economy, and work-saving cleanliness.

Amishman Resigns From School Board

Situation In Eastern County More Complicated As Result Of Move

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 7.—The battle over the "ten little red school houses" was shunted into a more complicated stage today by the adamant refusal of Amishman David B. Zook to assume his post as a school director in East Lampeter township.

Elected during the court fight to halt erection of a $125,000 consolidated school destined to replace 10—one room school houses, Zook tendered his resignation to the regular meeting of the board last night. He was to have taken the oath of office at that time along with another newly-elected member.

The surprise action caused postponement of any immediate action on the compromise suggested by state officials who had asked the board members to consider re-opening five of the one-room buildings for the express use of the Amishmen. Members of the "plain people" sect objected to their childrens' attendance at the consolidated school because they feared they would become too "worldly wise," violating the strict tenets of their religion.

Zook presented his letter of resignation to Secretary H. E. Heller a short time before the meeting. Heller quoted the Amishman as saying "he might have to resign later anyhow."

The secretary announced the board would not elect Zook's successor until later but stated that unless one was named within 31 days, Gov. George H. Earle could make an appointment.

Epworth League Names Officers

Gathering in the Italian M. E. church recently, members of the Epworth League elected officers for 1938.

The result of the election: Joe Lalama, president; Peggy DeEulio, vice president; Mary Giamarino, second vice president; Sylvio DeEulio, third vice president; Frank Cimini, fourth vice president; Yolanda Giamarino, secretary; Rose Gillest, treasurer. A social time followed. Delicious refreshments were served during the course of the event.

Hold Man For Cafe Robbery

Detectives John Moore and John Young yesterday afternoon arrested John S. Harvan, 1602 Hamilton street, on suspicion of twice breaking into and robbing the Rendezvous cafe of liquor, a fountain pen and a watch. The arrest was made on information secured by Chief of Detectives Ray Showalter. Harvan was said to have confessed to Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell.

He entered the cafe on September 11 and also September 17, it was said. He will be charged with breaking, entering and larceny, according to the chief.

Honors Are Won By Local A. Z. A.

Northwestern Penna. Tournament At Sharon Is Won By New Castle

A group of eight members from the New Castle Chapter of the A. Z. A. went to the Northwestern Pennsylvania Winter Tournament at Sharon Sunday and succeeded in winning the meet over such chapters as Braddock, Aliquippa, Erie, Shenango Valley and Beaver Falls.

The local chapter was represented in debate by David Lerner and Ted Marlin, they carried away the honors by a unanimous vote of the judges and will represent the N. W. P. C. at Aliquippa some time in January. David Lerner also represented the chapter in oratory and won that award also. Those members attending the tournament were Hershel Baltimore, David Lerner, Harvey Lewis, Merton Love, Ted Marlin, Forrest Raffle, Sherman Samuels and Sheldon Slavonsky. This is the second successive year that the New Castle A. Z. A. has won the winter tournament. The chapter expressed today its thanks to the board of advisers and the B'nai B'rith for the aid and cooperation given by them.

WOOLCOCK AGAIN NAMED PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD

pointed Director Roy W. Hazen to serve on the sinking fund committee along with the president and treasurer of the board. Members of the board appointed to serve on the athletic council are A. C. Hyde, Dr. W. D. Cleland and Dr. W. Fulton Jackson. From the alumni association Attorney Joseph R. McFate, George D. Blair and Carl E. Paisley were re-appointed.

Standing Committees Abolished.

Director W. W. Duff then presented a resolution which resulted in a long discussion. The resolution provided that all standing committees be abolished and the board return to the previous way of conducting its business, that of having the board as a whole consider the business brought before it.

For several years there has been a Committee on Text Books and Supplies, Committee of Buildings and Grounds, Committee on Employment and Committee on Budget.

Supporting the resolution Duff said, "I believe the board can function better under the old plan than under the committee plan and I offer the resolution."

Said A. C. Hyde, "Ten years ago the board adopted a similar resolution but it was later decided there should be some committees to handle various phases of the work. First there was the committee on Buildings and Grounds and then came the others. My opinion is after experience with and without committees that the committee system is the better way to function and I cannot vote for the resolution."

Said Clyde M. Whittaker. "I have found the officers we select to be competent in discharging their duties and I see no reason for committees taking over some of those duties."

Said Roy W. Hazen. "I never was in favor of the change under which we have been working for the past two years. If committees are needed from time to time they can be appointed to handle certain specific cases and when these cases are through the committee is through. Most of the board members are so situated that they cannot give time to the work of standing committees."

Said Griff Thomas. "Some of the committees are necessary I believe. There is something always coming up for the work of the Buildings and Grounds Committee and the Employment Committee."

Other Remarks

Said President Woolcock. "So far as the employment committee is concerned we have never tried to dictate the election of teachers or janitors. We have taken the recommendations of Dr. Green and Mr. Ligo and it seems to me a committe is not vital."

Said Dr. W. D. Cleland. "I believe the employment committee is necessary.

Said Dr. W. F. Jackson. "The difficulty is this. Out of 200 applicants there will be 5 or 10 elected. The disappointed ones then believe they have been badly treated and blame the committee. I believe the election of employes should be put up to the board as a whole."

The question being called the vote was taken. Those voting to abolish the standing committees were Duff, Foster, Hazen, Jackson, Whittaker and Woolcock. Voting no were Cleland, Hyde and Thomas. The motion carried and the standing committees are abolished.

W. W. Duff then moved that Dr. W. Fulton Jackson be named as the board representative to serve with the city council representative in the matter fo the operation of the city treasurer's office. The city treasurer also serves as collector of school taxes and school treasurer.

Into Regular Meeting

The special meeting then adjourned and the board reconvened in regular session. It was decided to permit the city treasurer to have the tax lien notices ready for distribution before January 1. A voucher for $100 was ordered drawn for Alexander Dzubay of Pittsburgh a consulting engineer who has been investigating heating and ventilation problems of the schools.

The board accepted the bond of Chamberlain and Cline for $1,708, the amount of the contract for the installation of the motor generator set in the senior high school.

Dr. C. C. Green presented a recommendation for the approval and adoption of "Youth Studies Alcohol" as a supplemental text book in the senior high school. Eighty copies were ordered purchased for use in the health classes.

Dr. Green then told the board of the civil service examinations which will be held in the senior high school on January 8-15-22 for the Department of Public Assistance. He said about ten rooms would be needed and that the department wanted a contract for the use of the rooms necessary, stating the price. The board set a price of $25 per day for the use of the school. This is a minimum but should more than ten rooms be used, a unit price of $2.50 will prevail.

The request of the janitresses to be paid for holidays was not acted upon. Recently they were placed on an hourly basis instead of a monthly basis.

It was decided to close the night schools in North street, Lincoln-Garfield and Mahoning schools for the week of December 27 to permit the janitors to make repairs and clean the properties.

Informal Meeting

The board decided to hold an informal meeting some time in January at which the directors could sit around and discusss a number of matters that are to come before the board. A meeting with the athletic council was also authorized.

Business Manager John B. Bechtol reported that the band uniforms for the senior high band had been paid for. Out of a total cost of $2832.50, all but $67 was raised outside of the board and the only tax money used was $67.

A letter was received from J. S. Arnold, secretary of the Industrial Bureau of the state, acknowledging the receipt of the board's request for exemption on school janitors in the working of the 44 hour law.

A request was received from the National Youth Administration for the use of the senior high school gymnasium for basketball games. As several other similar requests are expected the matter was laid over until the regular meeting on December 15.

A letter of appreciation was received from John J. Maher, secreeary of the board of directors of the New Castle Hospital for the use of the Franklin auditorium on October 7, when the nurses were graduated.

Mrs. Cynthia Alexander informed the board by letter that she had gone to Harrisburg along with Mrs. James De Garmo and had conferred with Secretary of Health, Dr. Edith McBride-Dexter over the matter of her physical qualifications to teach in the New Castle public schools.

Several letters were attached to the file, one from Dr. C. Howard Marcy, of Pittsburgh, one from Dr. Elliah Kaplan of New Castle, one from Dr. Dexter, one from Dr. Ackley of the Department of Public Instruction. The first two letters were reiterations of previous letters which said that Mrs. Alexander had once had tuberculosis but that her case was now inactive. Dr. Dexter said the school code covered the authority of the board and Dr. Ackley said the board could be goverened by the law and by the letters of the doctors. No action was taken.

Mrs. C. R. Sherer of North Beaver township notified the board that the township school board was refusing to pay tuition for her son who is in the New Castle senior high school. The board paid the bill last year but it not doing so this year. Mr. Bechtol was instructed to get in touch with the North Beaver township board.

The board adjourned.

Moguls Likely To Keep 'Lively Ball'

National League Re-Names President Frick; Cards Re-elect Sam Breadon

AMERICAN SEASON TO OPEN APRIL 19

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—As National and American League baseball magnates today remained embroiled in an argument over the "dead ball" the subject of trades between the major clubs was temporarily shoved in the background.

Despite previous agreements for a change, sentiment in favor of retaining the present "lively ball" is growing. Col. Jacob Ruppert, who came on from New York for the American League meeting, frankly favored keeping the present home-run ball. One might say, however, he was slightly biased. But the major-domos of baseball generally, who have one sharp eye on the box office, still remember that "Babe" Ruth's bat filled the ball parks to the brim.

Will Harridge, president of the American League, has intimated that the opening game next season will still see the present jackrabbitt pill in use.

Business already transacted included the National League's vote of approval to put an end to the signing of college players while still in school. Since the proposal was voted down by the minor leagues at their meeting last week, no action can be taken until next year.

Other action taken by the two leagues so far:

1.—Ford Frick was re-elected president of the National League and given a three-year contract at a reported boost in salary. Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, was elected vice-president.

2.—Leon Pettit, left-handed pitcher who had a trial with the Phillies last summer, was sold by Baltimore in the International League to the New Orleans club in the Southern Association.

Bees Buy Niggeling

3.—Cincinnati Reds sold Gilly Campbell, catcher to Montreal of the International League.

4.—Boston Bees purchased John Niggeling, 30-year-old pitcher from Newark.

5.—Marty McManus, former Boston Red Sox manager, signed with Philadelphia Athletics in an unknown capacity. It is reported he will probably manage one of the A's farms.

6.—Col. Jacob Rupert, New York Yankees, re-elected vice president of the American League. Ruppert, Lou Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox, and Alva Bradley, Cleveland, were named to the league board of directors.

7.—American League officials voted to open next season on April 19 and close Oct. 2. It was agreed that no double-headers will be played until after three regular Sunday games have been played.

8.—Resignation of William Dinneen an umpire in the American League was accepted. Dinneen had served for 29 years.

9.—Cincinnati was named as the site for the 1938 all-star game.

Strollers Plan For Christmas Party This Year

Meeting Held In Club Rooms On East Side—Christmas Eve Is Date Set

At a meeting of the East Side Strollers Athletic club held recently in their club rooms, corner of Beckford and East Washington streets, plans were made for the annual Christmas party of the club. Date set for the event this year was Christmas eve, and it will be held in the club rooms.

Various committees were named to take charge of the details in regard to the party. Plans were also completed in regard to the Stroller basketball team this year. Hub Riley was named as captain. A hockey team was also formed and Bobby Sage was selected as captain.

The Strollers elected Jack Llewelyn to succeed Dinks Mack as manager of the Strollers softball team for 1938 season. Eddie Gunther was admitted to the club as a new member at this meeting.

Wrestling Clinic At State College

Intercollegiate Champs Will Show How It Is Done For High School Grapplers

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 7.—Penn State's intercollegiate championship wrestlers will show "how it is done" to several hundred high school grapplers who will gather here Saturday for Charlie Speidel's second annual wrestling clinic.

Under the personal direction of Speidel, the Nittany Lion matmen who last season amassed the largest total of points in the 33-year history of the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association, will demonstrate the various wrestling techniques including legal and illegal holds, defensive and aggressive mat positions, throwing holds, breaks and neutral positions.

Paul A. Spitler, wrestling chairman of the New York Athletic club and prominent referee, will have charge of a rule interpretation session. He will referee actual bouts between Lion stars, emphasizing the 1938 rules which have eliminated "timers" and placed the entire responsibility of a decision on the referee.

A feature of the morning session will be one of the first eastern showings of moving pictures of the 1937 final matches of the N. C. A. A. wrestling tournament. Wilfred E. Cann, former American Olympic coach and trainer, will be the principal luncheon speaker.

The afternoon demonstration bouts will feature two Penn State varsity wrestlers who won eastern championships at Bethlehem last year. They are Ross Shaffer, Harrisburg boy who captains this year's Nittany team, and Aldo Zazzi. Shaffer won the 175 pound title in 1937 and was runner-up in 1936. He has never been defeated in a dual meet. Zazzi grapples in the 135-pound division and has never lost at that weight.

Catholics Trip Buccaneers, 6-0

South Side Gridders Finish Season Minus Defeat; Zingaro Scores

Rifling a short pass to Pete Zingaro over the goal line, Gabby DeCaprio, former ace New Castle high gridder, was mainly responsible for a 6-0 triumph of the Catholics over the Buccaneers Sunday afternoon at Rosena grounds.

The Cats closed the season in a blaze of glory, winding up the campaign minus a defeat. After battling to even terms in the first quarter, DeCaprio and Zingaro started plowing down the field for nice gains. From the Buc's 5 DeCaprio faded back and tossed one a la Baugh fashion into the waiting arms of Zingaro. In the third the Bucks pushed the ball to the Cats' 3. first and ten. The Cats' stonewall, which has held every opponent, fought off the attack in great style.

DeCaprio's kicking stood out. Tex Richards and Joe Factor officiated a good game. Russo, Cagnetta, Alfera and McEwen were outstanding for the losers. Mike Conglose, Birdie Biondi and Leo Orelli were in the thick of the battle for the winners. Several hundred fans watched the gridiron season close.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

The news that Notre Dame and Michigan are planning to renew football relations, brings back some ancient tales....of days when football was a bit more rough-and-tumble from a scholastic standpoint than at present....in 1908 Notre Dame finally beat Michigan after losing seven games to the Wolverines.....that Notre Dame team was coached by "Shorty" Longman former Michigan player, and the defeat didn't sit well a Ann Arbor.

Anyway, in 1909 Michigan questioned the eligibility of two Irish linemen, Dimick and Philbrook, who played football for several years in the northwest, coming to Notre Dame from Walla Walla Junior college....though the contract for the 1909 game specified that these men could play, the game was called off by Michigan.

Notre Dame was a bit galled some years later—along about 1920 if my memory is working—by the case of Bernie Kirk....Kirk a great end, played a year of football at Notre Dame...then strangely dropped out of school and matriculated at Michigan where he became an All-American....Yost was blamed for "inviting" Bernie to leave the Irish and become a Wolverine....but I guess time heals everyhing....even eligibility disputes and "invitations" but a lot of good reading matter is pretty sure to be printed before the kickoff of another Michigan-Notre Dame game.

Center Jump To Be Eliminated

P. I. A. A. Must Obey Rulings Of National Basketball Committee

WILL PUT BALL IN PLAY FROM SIDELINES

By DICK SHANER
International News Service Sports Writer

HARRISBURG, Dec. 7.—Answering queries of high school basketball coaches throughout the state, the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association today announced it would require member schools to adhere to rule revisions adopted by the national basketball committee of the United States and Canada last April.

The blanket approval of the revised regulations means virtual elimination of the center jump from the scholastic cage game. In lieu of the tossup, the ball is put into play from the sidelines, lengthening the playing time of the game and accelerating the pace, according to the committee.

The only variation from collegiate rules granted the school boys was the addition of an extra time out because the increased speed of the game necessitated additional stamina and energy. Elimination of the center jump, according to the committee, adds, on an average, approximately five minutes playing time to the game.

Effective this year for the first time, the new regulation permits a center jump at the beginning of the first and second periods, at the beginning of over-time sessions and after technical and double fouls.

Center Line Rule

Also included in the new regulations was the defining of a player's position between front and back courts. From now on, when any part of his body is over the center line, he is considered in the opposite court.

The P.I.A.A., through Secretary Edmund Wicht, revealed its stand after numerous coaches in the state made inquiries relative to the board of control's attitude on the changes and the probability of some of the revisions being eliminated.

A number of the mentors objected to junking of the center jump on the grounds that its elimination placed such a tax on the physical resources of the scholastic players that the game could not be played safely with less than 15 students participating.

Will Speed Up Game

Dr. Frank MaGuire, member of the joint committee which made the revisions, said:

"The game unquestionable will be much faster and as the ball falls through the net and is taken by an opponent who steps out of bounds and immediately passes it back into play the pace will seem considerably accelerated and it undoubtedly will be. However, we will not have the picture so frequently seen, of two tired centers coming up to the center circle for the 'killing' jump. Nor will we have the other players jockeying for positions and crashing in, with attendant risks, to retrieve the ball when tapped from center.

"If the change does offer greater opportunity for participation by a greater number of boys the rule will have ample justification. The elimination of the center jump after field goals relieves the two centers of the most strenuous and energy-consuming feature of the game."

Franklin High To Play Alumni

Coach Bill Wallace of Franklin junior high announced today that the East Siders would play the Alumni of Franklin high at the Franklin court on Friday afternoon after school.

This is the annual battle and will no doubt attract quite a big crowd. The following members of the Alumni of last year are asked to report for the game: Felix Milosewski, Dave Minnick, Nick Horney, Ed Nahas, Sam Caiazza, Dave Greer, Gregory Forconi, Clark, and Jim Teminski.

Franklin's team will be light and fast this year, it was indicated.

Local Rifle Club Still Leads League

New Castle Defeats McDonald, O., At Cathedral Range Last Night

Defeaing McDonald, O. at the Cathedral range Monday night, the New Castle Rifle club chalked up its eighth consecutive victory of this season and kept its place at the top of the Ohio-Pennsylvania league.

The score last night was 942 for New Castle and 938 for McDonald. Dick Pugh was high man for the locals wtih 193; William "Flash" McKibben was second with 190. Engle was high man for McDonald with 191, with Fritz second shooting a 190. The box score:

| New Castle—942 | McDonald—938 |
|---|---|
| Pugh, 193 | Engle, 191 |
| McKibben, 190 | Fritz, 190 |
| Hunter, 187 | Helwig, 189 |
| Hockenberry, 186 | Donahue, 185 |
| J. Moore, 186 | Schesler, 183 |

Other scores made during the evening: Houck 186; McKeown 185; Hill 182; Finley 182; Patterson 179; R. Moore 178; Ferver 178; Waddington 177; Cooper 177; VanHorn 175; Blyth 175; Black 174; McMullen 157; Cramer 182; Garman 181; Spratt 180; Shaw 173; Phillips 170.

The New Castle club has been very fortunate in winning all the matches and hopes to continue the winning streak by defeating Warren here next Friday. The standing of the various clubs in the league follows:

| | Won | Lost |
|---|---|---|
| New Castle | 8 | 0 |
| Niles | 6 | 2 |
| Mahoning | 6 | 2 |
| Alliance | 4 | 4 |
| McDonald | 3 | 5 |

Boxing Game Coming Back

Fans Have Paid About Five Million This Year

SMALL CLUBS NOT DRAWING BIG CROWDS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Uncle Sam's fight bill will run close to $5,000,000 this year or about as much as a half a dozen fights drew ten years ago, according to the most accurate figures obtainable today.

Mike Jacobs, boxing's leading impresario, figures that he has promoted about $1,500,000 worth of fights this year and half of this sum was drawn at the Jim Braddock-Joe Louis fight in Chicago.

"The fighting game is slowly coming back," said Jacobs, as he pored over his books today, "but it still has a long way to go to reach the prosperity it had before the crash in Wall Street.

"Why just ten years ago Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney drew $2,658,660 in Chicago and Dempsey and Jack Sharkey drew $1,083,530 or a total of $3,742,190. In other words, those two fights drew almost four-fifths as much as the combined gates of every fight held in the United States this year!

Not All Fights Click

"There seems to be a widespread belief that the fight game draws ten times as much as it does. That's because the fans see the total of two or three big title fights and figure all the others on the same basis.

"For instance, the Braddock-Louis, the Louis-Farr and my carnival of champions shows drew approximately $1,250,000. But 23 shows in Madison Square Garden, the biggest fight arena in the country, drew only about $250,000 and one fight—the Louis-Pastor affair—drew $111,000 of this total.

"Small clubs draw very little anywhere. There is no more prosperous club than the Coliseum here. It runs 52 weeks a year but I doubt that it will average more than $2,000 a show or $100,000 for the whole year. These figures, plus reports I get from other states, lead me to believe that the total fight gate for 1937 for the whole United States will not exceed $5,000,000."

Games Wednesday In Church League

Three New Castle church basketball league games will be played on Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. floor, it was announced today. In the first game the Central Presbyterians will meet the First Christians. Third U. P. will meet the First Presbyterians in the second engagement, and in the third game the Highland U. P. team will clash with the First M. E. quintet.

Firmer Tone In Stock Market

Little Change In Prices During Stock Trading This Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—A firmer tone developed in the stock market today, after yesterday's listless decline had been extended on a small scale at the opening.

U. S. Steel climbed above 56 for a small fractional gain on the day. Bethlehem erased a half-point loss and Republic a ⅜ drop.

General Motors changed a fractional decline into a equal gain, while Chrsyler recovered almost all of an initial slide of 1¼.

Aviation shares continued in demand, particularly United Aircraft and Boeing, each gaining fractionally. Coppers moved up slightly after an easier opening. Rails and utilities showed little change in narrow trading.

A few of the higher-priced issues were under pressure. At their lows Johns-Manville, Case and Owens-Illinois Glass were down 2 or more points, while American Can and Du-Pont lost nearly as much. These declines were pared somewhat later in the forenoon.

New lows for the year were reached by several stocks. Included in this group were American Sugar, Reynolds Tobacco "B" and Celanese, the latter falling almost 2 points before meeting support.

Past Officers Club Has Turkey Dinner

Officers Elected By Orange Lodge Organization At Hooker Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Julia Hooker pleasingly received members of the Past Officers club of Loyal Orange lodge at her home on the Ellwood-New Castle road on Monday evening for the annual Christmas party.

Fifteen members and two guests, Mrs. Henrietta Davis and Mrs. Eliza Houston of New Castle, assembled at 6 o'clock. They were seated at an attractively appointed table and served a sumptuous turkey dinner by the hostess, aided by her daughter, Mrs LaVee Huber. An exchange of gayly wrapped gifts added to the evening's enjoyment.

A brief business meeting was held and the following officers elected: President, Mrs. Ethel Slade; vice president, Mrs. Stella Vaney; secretary, Mrs. Julia Hooker, and treasurer, Mrs. Cora Snare.

Bingo and 500 provided the diversions with the awards going to Mrs. Clara Ketler for the former, and to Mrs. Hazel Dougherty for cards.

On Monday evening, January 3, Mrs. Iva Garwig will be hostess to the group at her Spring avenue home.

Friendship Class Has Yuletide Party

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7—Thirty-one members of the Friendship Circle class of the First Methodist church gathered at the church on Monday evening for a delightful Christmas party and dinner.

At 6 o'clock a covered-dish dinner was served by a committee with the remainder of the evening being spent in an enjoyable informal manner. Mrs. Harold Jones had charge of the diversions which included a humorous reading by Mrs. Maybelle Ringer; a playlet, "The Lover's Errand" by Mrs. Charles Nicholson and Mrs. Ethel Frost; and a solo, "When I Grow Too Old To Dream" by Mrs. Frost.

For the January meeting, Mrs. Frost invited the group to meet at her Second street home on Monday, the third.

Ellwood City Man In Crash At Butler

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 7—Angelica Kriley, 17, of Butler, R. D. 4, suffered head lacerations in an automobile collision at East Jefferson and McKean streets.

Miss Kriley was riding in a car operated by Mrs. Joseph Kriley.

Police said that the Kriley car and a car owned and operated by John B. Wilson, 717 Clover avenue, Ellwood City, collided at the intersection.

Wilson was traveling west on Jefferson street and Mrs. Kriley traveling east, was attempting to make a left turn into North McKean St officers said. Damage to the two machines was estimated at $150.

Ellwood Defeats Midland 25 To 19

Locals Emerge In Final Period To Win Thrilling Contest

PLAY MONACA ON WEDNESDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—After trailing Midland high school basketball team on their home court for three periods on Monday night, Ellwood City high school basketball team displayed potential strength, emerging in the final period to win by a score of 25 to 19.

Walter Robuck, at a forward post for Ellwood, with five field goals to his credit was the high scorer of the contest with Alston, Midland's forward, just behind with nine points, four of which were field goals.

In the first quarter Midland led 9 to 7 with Robuck accounting for six of the points and Fusco the other by the "charity" route and Alston and Ray scoring for the opponents.

Midland added to their lead in the second period while holding the Ellwood five to two points and the score at the end of the half was 14 to 9 for Midland.

Ellwood hit their stride in the third period and outscored the valley boys 7 to 4 with DeBortoli and Robuck increasing the score.

Beginning the last period Midland maintained their lead 18 to 16 and then Coach Jerry Newton's boys got the situation in hand and kept the ball in their possession until the final whistle sounded, adding nine points to Midland's one. Long shots by Bianco and Robuck, a pass from Robuck to Bianco and accurate placements by Cunningham accounted for the scoring.

Many substitutions were used to work out a winning combination and the high scorers for Ellwood were Robuck, DeBortoli and Bianco. Alston and Ray were the "big shots" for Midland.

In the preliminary, Ellwood reserves easily defeated the Midland reserves by a score of 39 to 20.

On Wednesday evening, the locals will "shoot" the lid from their home opener at Lincoln gym when they will be hosts to Monaca high and their supporters will be given an opportunity to see this year's disciples of the hardwood court in action. Friday evening they will journey to Beaver, completing a three-game schedule for the week.

Reformed Class Has Dinner Meet

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7—Mizpah Bible class members of the Immanuel Reformed church assembled on Monday evening in the church rooms for a dinner and Christmas party that proved to be one of the most delightful social events held by the class for sometime.

Mrs. Eugene McDonald was hostess for the occasion and the members and Kenneth Bunney, a special guest, were served a satisfying and prettily appointed dinner as the first feature. During the evening attractively wrapped gifts were exchanged between the members.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Arthur Nicklas presided at a brief business meeting with officers for the coming year being nominated.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Habert extended an invitation to the members to gather at their home, 108 Orchard avenue, for the next meeting on Monday, January 3.

Andrew Barta Is Kiwanis Speaker

National Tube Company Sociologist Explains His Survey In This City

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—Andrew Barta, Ohio State university sociologist, who is conducting a social and economical survey of the towns where plants of the National Tube company are located, and who has been conducting a survey of this city for the local plant, was the guest speaker for the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club held last evening in the Trinity Lutheran church.

Nelson Runyan was in charge of the program and introduced Mr. Barta, who is an able speaker and who gave the members a clear conception of his views concerning the social conditions of this city. Mr. Barta believes that Ellwood City is a splendid community and that there are no unfavorable social conditions of a serious nature to be considered.

This evening, the officers will attend a leadership training course being held at Coraopolis.

Plans were announced for the 15th anniversary celebration to be observed at the meeting on Tuesday, December 14 with Dr. C. M. Iseman, first president of the organization, in charge of the program arrangements.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Plans Dinner Event

Christmas Party For Children To Be Held On Saturday, December 18

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—When members of the V. F. W. auxiliary assembled on Monday evening in their hall on Fourth street for the first meeting of December, they made plans to hold their next meeting on Monday, December 20, in the form of a Christmas party featuring a turkey dinner.

Members may make their reservations with Mrs. Mary Wollman or Mrs. Daisy Haddock up to and including Friday, December 17.

Arrangements were also made for the annual Christmas party to be held for the children of the members on Saturday afternoon, December 18, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Neva Koach and her committee will have charge of the arrangements.

The auxiliary will take care of two needy families for Christmas providing them with edibles and gifts. They also agreed to purchase a tuberculosis bond.

Mrs. Lulu Eidenmiller and Mrs. Tice Patterson will have charge of a card party to be held on Wednesday evening.

On Friday evening, December 10, the Tri-County Council will meet at Grove City with an election of officers to be featured.

Members of the post and auxiliary are planning to send petitions to this district's congressman expressing their sentiment against this country entering into war. The members will canvass the town to secure petitioneers.

Local Auxiliary Plans To Entertain State Association

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7—Assembling in the Firemen's hall in Sixth street last evening, members of the Firemen's auxiliary made arrangements to entertain the Auxiliary of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's association in this city on Thursday, December 16, at their monthly session.

Mrs. Myrtle Lattimer was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee and Mrs. Nelda Mortensen chairman of the refreshment committee. Mrs. Harry Wolfe, of this city, is president of the organization.

At last night's meeting plans were also made to aid a needy family at Christmas time.

A social hour followed with bingo as the diversion and the award going to Mrs. Lulu Bentrim. Tempting refreshments were served by Mrs. Ruth Kocher at an appropriate hour.

On Monday evening, December 20, the next regular meeting will be held.

Evans To Head School Board

Ellwood School Board Reorganizes For Year Monday Night

SCHOOL BUSINESS MATTERS DISCUSSED

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7—J. A. Evans, re-elected director of the Ellwood City Board of Education, was named president for the ensuing year at the organizational meeting held last evening conforming with the school code.

William L. Dean, administered the oath to Mr. Evans and Frank E. Potter the other new director, and presided as temporary chairman. Dr. A. M. Giglotti nominated Mr. Evans for president and Paul Luther seconded the motion. Dr. H. E. Helling, the retiring president, was elected vice president with J. A. Evans making the nomination and Howard Smith, the second. Both Mr. Evans and Dr. Helling were unanimously elected.

After thanking his fellow directors for the honor, Mr. Evans took the chair which he has capably and satisfactorily filled during various other years, and preceded with the regular business for December, which proved to be mostly routine matters.

G. B. Hancher, secretary of the board, was unanimously re-elected as a trustee of the library board.

V. R. DeLong, superintendent of schools, reported that plans for the football banquet being held as a community affair in conjunction with the board on Wednesday, January 5, at the Shelby auditorium were pregressing nicely. Arrangements for the affair was being made by Andy Biordi, popular sports follower, and he has secured William Kern, coach at Carnegie Tech and other notables in the football sphere to appear on the program. Football sweaters will be presented to the members of the team during the banquet hour as a gift of the board.

Total enrollment for the month of November was 3765 with the attendance average being 90 per cent.

During the week of November 8, Dr. Evans assisted by Dr. Pruitt, Dr. Caplan, Miss Shremp, and Miss Thompson, gave the Tuberculin tests to 455 pupils. These tests were not given to any who had a positive reaction last year. A summary shows that only 17 per cent had a positive reaction to this test. It is desirable to follow up the positive reactions with X-ray tests where they are desired by the parents. For the January meeting a plan for the X-ray tests will be worked out. If it is possible to have the work done in this city, it was agreed by the directors, to follow that plan.

Superintendent DeLong was granted permission to attend a P. S. E. A. conference at Harrisburg early in January. Mr. DeLong has been requested to explain the primary reading system adopted in this city to the elementary supervisors.

Taxes for the month of November reported were: $3705 for 1937 and $463 for 1936.

Members of the board agreed to a plan calling for the remodelling of the superintendent's and secretary's offices and if possible the work will be completed during the Christmas vacation.

Receipts and expenditures of the athletic fund were made known. Receipts for the 11 games total $4,349.67. Including the balance from last years games the receipts of three Junior high games and two small refunds, the receipts amounted to $4,585.53.

After the expenditures including football equipment, some basketball equipment, officials visiting team guarantees, transportation, police protecetion, etc., had been paid the balance cn Dec. 1, 1937 amounted to $1,284.

HOSPITAL NOTES

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—Admitted: H. H. Davis, Fifth street; Albert Nagy, R. D. 1, New Brighton; Jean Peffer, Harmony.

Discharged: Mrs. Charles Hardy and baby, Mt. Route 7.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—The following activities have been announced for the First Christian church:

Tuesday, Loyal Women's class meeting, at 7:45 p. m.

Wednesday, first meeting of the teachers and officers of the Bible school at the church at 8:30 p. m.

Girls Glee Club Present Program For Randolph Post

Commander Poister Appoints Armistice Day Committee For Next Year

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—J. Wilbur Randolph post members of the American Legion greatly enjoyed a delightful and pleasing musical program presented last evening at their regular meeting in the Legion rooms, Sixth street, by the Girls' Glee club of the Ellwood City High school.

Attired in white choral robes with black collars, the girls presented a striking appearance. Their presentations directed by Miss Mary Jane Thompson with Miss Elizabeth Baldy, as pianist, held the complete attention of the audience.

Included in the splendidly arranged program were the following numbers by the chorus: "Allah's Holliday", "The Star", "By The Bend of the River", "The Big Brown Bear" and "A Southern Melody." Piano solos were contributed by Miss Winifred Dilley, Miss Leatrice Keller and Miss Lois June Rhinehart and a musical sketch by Misses Ruth Denniston, Katherine Nicklas and Betty Wilson.

On Friday evening, December 17, the Beaver county committee will meet in Baden. The Sons of Legion will hold a Christmas party in the Legion rooms on Tuesday evening, December 21, with J. Arthur Grandey in charge of the arrangements.

The following Armistice Day committee for next year was named by Commander Fred E. Poister: Wayne Baird, chairman; Bert Croft, Charles Baird, W. R. Herr, Glen Stahl, Loyal Wilson, Edward Cain and W. J. Johnson.

After the program, Herman Persons and his committee served a savory chili supper that proved to be the "something different" in the line of refreshments.

Monday evening, December 20, marks the date of the next meeting.

W. B. A. LODGE

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—On Wednesday evening, at 6 o'clock, members of the W. B. A. Lodge will hold a tureen dinner in the First National bank hall preceding their usual meeting. An exchange of gifts will be a feature.

A special Christmas party has been planned for the Juniors at 4:30 o'clock in the hall.

Franklin Board Names Officers

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—In accordance with the regulations of the school code, members of the Franklin township school board assembled on Monday evening in the North Star school house for a re-organization meeting.

Mrs. Mary Smith of Frisco and John Nagel of Lilyville were inducted into office. Paul Thornhill is the retiring member.

Clyde Burry was elected president for a period of one year and Jesse Brown was named vice-president.

The date of the annual Christmas vacation was determined and it will be from Thursday, December 23, to Monday, January 3.

The mumps epidemic which has greatly affected the attendance records of the various schools during the past several weeks has abated and the attendance records are returning to normalcy.

Ellwood Kiddies To Greet Santa Claus

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—Every kiddie in town will have an opportunity to welcome Santa Claus to Ellwood City on next Monday evening, December 13. Santa will arrive in Ellwood City by special plane from Cleveland, Ohio.

His plane will use a nearby landing field which will not be made public due to the chances of a huge crowd gathering there and making it impossible for him to land. As soon as he arrives at the secret landing field, he will be whisked away in a sleigh if the snow permits and headed by the Junior Veterans Drum and Bugle Corp. and High School band to the Municipal building steps where he will be greeted by city officials. A specially constructed loud speaking apparatus will be set up on the municipal building steps so as that Santa Claus will be able to speak to all the kiddies in Ellwood City.

In the meantime, workmen will start Thursday to get the town decorated with the trees and lights on the white way poles, place Christmas bulbs in the Ellwood City sign and the stores will give their windows the final trim for the grand opening of Ellwood City, the "Merry Christmas" town.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

Mrs. Norman Pack has been confined to her home in Ewing Park by illness.

The condition of Mrs. Emma Rosencranz of Frisco, who recently suffered a stroke, is much improved.

Thomas H. Patterson of Wayne avenue, popular Ellwood City business man, has undergone an operation at the Rochester General hospital. His many friends will be glad to know that his condition is favorable.

Emory Palm of Frisco, who was injured last week while at work in the Forge plant at Butler, is in a serious condition at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Forrester and Miss Mary Forrester of Vandergrift have returned home after visiting at the home of relatives in the fourth ward.

Christmas Play To Be Presented By Presbyterians

Mrs. Ray Wilson And Mrs. Edward Mackasek To Direct Presentation

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7—Officers and teachers of the First Presbyterian Sunday School assembled last evening in the church rooms for a dinner and business meeting to plan the annual Christmas program.

At 6 o'clock the group partook of a most appetizing tureen dinner served by the members of the primary department with covers arranged for twenty guests.

On Monday evening, December 20, the annual Christmas presentation will be held at the church at 8 o'clock. "The Magic Christmas Bell" will be presented by members of the Sunday School under the direction of Mrs. Ray Wilson and Mrs. Edward Mackasek.

Monday Members At Barnes Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—Monday Night Bridge club members were received in a welcome manner at the home of Mrs. Thomas Barnes, of Lawrence avenue, for the regular session.

Mrs. S. A. Hartung, Mrs. Ted Markwort and Mrs. Harry Young were special guests with the guest award won by Mrs. Hartung.

Three tables were in play with the high score holder being Mrs. Ferd Zeigler. Seasonable refreshments carrying out a Yuletide theme were served by Mrs. Barnes.

Next Monday evening, Mrs. Zeigler will entertain the members at a dinner at the First Baptist church, after which the members will assemble at the Zeigler home in Pittsburgh Circle, for bridge.

Holiday Lighting Contest Planned

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 7.—The Chamber of Commerce will again sponsor an outdoor Christmas lighting contest in Ellwood City. This Christmas lighting contest is in charge of the Chamber Beautification Committee and in order to give more contestants an opportunity to win prizes, they will issue special rules in Friday's Ledger.

There will also be three classifications this year which will be religious settings, Santa Claus settings and novelty.

Valuable prizes will be given.

Last year's first prize winner was John Ellefson of 414 Line avenue; second prize went to School Superintendent Vaughn DeLong; third prize went to Dr. H. E. Helling; fourth prize to Bob Crowe; fifth prize to E. W. Gamble and sixth prize to Dr. C. R. Carnahan.
